State, U. S. Officials To Enter Dump Issue

State Highway, Army Engineers to Meet on Chouteau Controversy

Trustees of the Chouteau Island Drainage District are to meet tomorrow with Illinois State Highway officials and representatives of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in a new development of the Chouteau Island landfill controversy, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

The meeting is to be held in the offices of Robert Kronst, chief district engineer of the French Village highway district, at 10 a.m. to examine charges by drainage district trustees that operators of the landfill have obstructed the flow of drainage waters through the large waterverts which pass under newly constructed Interstate Route 270 at the dump site in Chouteau township.

Plans for the meeting became known after a group of approximately 25 residents of the Chouteau Island area met Tuesday night in Mitchell, formed a permanent organization to oppose continued operation of the landfill and announced a decision to initiate legal proceedings in an effort to close down the dump.

Boy, 6, Burned in Fall to Hot Level Of Chouteau Dump

Randy Bowman, six, Rural Route One, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowman, was reported in good condition at Children's Hospital in St. Louis yesterday after he suffered severe burns to both legs while playing in the Chouteau Island Landfill Monday night.

The boy suffered second and third degree burns to his legs when he was reported to have fallen through soft earth to a lower level containing "fly ash," a non-material that is dumped by Olin Mathieson Chemical Company.

Randy was at the dump with several members of his family. His cousin, David Bowman, is employed at the landfill as a bulldozer operator, the boy's father said.

Randy was to begin attending school this year at Sandoval, Ill., according to his father. The boy has been living for several years with his aunt, Mrs. Lee Bowman, at the Rural Route One address, and was to have returned to his father's home near Centella this year.

The youngster was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital shortly after 8 p.m. Monday and transferred a short time later to Children's Hospital.

The Chouteau Island landfill, operated by a St. Louis corporation, has been the center of a controversy over its compliance with state and county regulations. County officials last week made an on-site inspection of the landfill and said its operation meets most of the county ordinance regulations and that others are to be met within a few weeks.

GC Schools Still Need 19 Fulltime Teachers

Substitute and Retired Teachers Helping Out For Start of New Term

A severe shortage of available fulltime school teachers has caused Granite City school district to launch a search for persons who can qualify for a state teaching certificate, and who would be interested in full-time teaching jobs in the school system, it was reported Tuesday.

Earl Lee administrative assistant in charge of personnel, said the shortage is being met only temporarily through employment, on a short term basis, of retired teachers and persons on the substitute list.

With substitute teachers, the district was able to fill all teaching posts yesterday.

Lee said 19 teachers have been employed on a temporary basis and pointed out that most of these have undertaken the work reluctantly because they either have already retired from teaching, or are substitutes who have families and are not interested in fulltime teaching posts.

Persons with bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degrees may apply for teaching positions paying $21 a day; the school district will aid them in obtaining required certificates. Where education courses are lacking, provisional certificates usually can be issued.

Non-degree substitute teachers receive $16.50 a day. To become substitutes, they need at least 60 hours of college credits and two years of teaching experience.

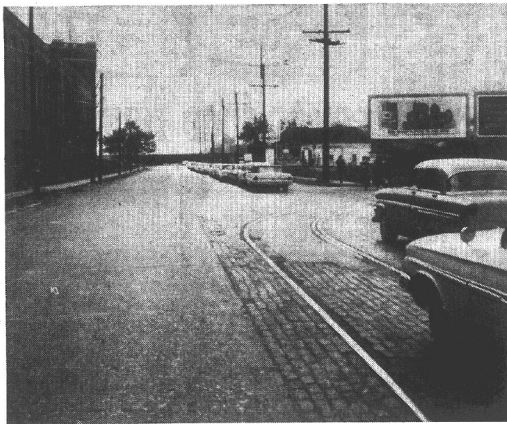

Several have made it clear they must leave the jobs by certain dates, Lee said.

All of the shortage is at the elementary level, with 80% of it in the lower elementary grades, he added.

Lee asked that any person with the qualifications necessary to obtain a teaching certificate who is interested in a fulltime teaching position with the Granite City school district contact his office or any other administrative office at the Board of Education in the Labor Temple building, 2014 State street.

"We are certain many of the temporary teachers we now have will accommodate the teaching posts for only a short time and we are anxious to replace them as rapidly as possible," Lee said.

Nearly 14,000 students were in attendance when Granite City schools opened yesterday.

LONG LINE OF VEHICLES tied up at the Niedringhaus avenue rail crossing where the city is hopeful its renewed efforts will result in an allocation of federal funds for a grade separation. This view looking west was taken yesterday at 6 p.m. When Federal Aid Route 151 is completed to Niedringhaus avenue at the Army Depot, an even greater load of traffic is expected.

City Requesting Federal Funds For RR Overpass

Warning Siren Test Set Next Tuesday

Granite City's network of seven warning sirens will be sounded at 10:30 a.m. next Tuesday as part of the regular monthly testing procedure designated by the state Civil Defense organization.

Local CD Director Victor H. Koenig said today that previous tests have proven successful. In the event of threatening weather, the test will be cancelled, he said.

Warning sirens throughout the state are tested on the first Tuesday of each month at 10:30 a.m.

Partney Says Rte. 151 Will Need Niedringhaus Ave. Outlet for 3 Years

A renewed effort by Granite City to get state and federal funds to build an overpass or underpass at the Niedringhaus avenue railroad crossing was announced during Monday night's council session by Mayor Partney.

"We're not going to give up. This time we'll be able to avoid mistakes made in previous attempts, but the going will not be easy and we will need all the support we can get," the mayor told the Press-Record.

Maps and traffic statistics are to be mailed this week to the Federal Bureau of Road and Transportation in Washington, D. C., the mayor added, explaining that he gained much knowledge on previous attempts while in the nation's capital earlier this summer.

The state highway department already has turned down the city's request for aid, but under the federal program, the city could get 90% of the total costs, the mayor told council members.

Newsboy's Regard Leads to Discovery Of Injured Woman

Concern for the welfare of a senior citizen who lives on his newspaper delivery route led to the discovery of Mrs. Lottie D. Scherrer, 2554 Cleveland Blvd., who was found at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday, lying injured on the floor of her home. She is believed to have fallen Sunday evening or Monday.

Now in her eighties, Mrs. Scherrer, widely-known for her efforts in the Juana Rebeke Lodge #47, apparently fell striking her right shoulder, arm and head on a door and was unable to rise. She was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where her condition today is listed as fair.

Depot Cooperating

Lack of highway funds is the reason given by state officials at both French Village and Springfield in turning down the city's request, but with the grant, the mayor told council members.

Gateway Council Directors to Act On Airport Plan

The board of directors of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council was scheduled to act in a meeting this afternoon on a report of its Airport Committee calling for an in-depth study of the metropolitan area's long-standing airport problems.

Airport Committee members, meeting in St. Louis yesterday afternoon, wound up its work by calling for the hiring of an independent consultant to study airport facilities, organizational structure of a metropolitan airport authority and possible ways and means of taking over existing airport and aviation facilities throughout the area.

Action of the eight-man board of directors this afternoon will determine the council's stand on the proposal since approval of the full council membership is not required in this instant, according to Eugene Mosby, executive director of the council.

The council also was scheduled to consider several proposals for enlarging the board of directors and also increasing the membership of the council. One of the proposals is to include the mayors of all cities in the six-county council area as members. If approved, it would give the council a potential membership of 178 instead of the present 17 members.

Three Hurt Wednesday

Three persons injured in a traffic accident at Highway 111 and Pontoon road were admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday.

They are Robert Hill, 22, of East St. Louis, cuts to his nose and forehead; Thomas L. Mauding, 21, of East St. Louis, cuts about the left eyebrow, right lower leg and chin; and Booker Sykes, 45, of Wood River, abrasions.

Segar Elected President

Ferd Segar, operator of a 300-acre farm in the vicinity of the landfill area, was elected in Tuesday's meeting as president of the new organization to be incorporated as the Chouteau Island Citizens Association, Inc. Segar also is a member of the Chouteau Island Drainage district which originally was established by a circuit court order to maintain the Chouteau Island levee which protects the island area up to a river stage of 38 feet.

Segar told the Press-Record that the meeting of the drainage district board with state highway and Army Engineers representatives was arranged to inform officials of conditions at the Chouteau Island landfill which, he said, prevents flood control operations by the drainage district.

"Regardless of what Jack Clifford (county zoning and building administrator) and other county men say, there is 10 feet of fill pushed up against the culverts under Interstate 270," Segar said.

Madison Teachers Pre-Holiday Accident Toll—13 Injuries in 19 Crashes

The pre-holiday traffic accident toll was higher than usual in the Quad-Cities this week as 13 persons were hurt in seven of 19 crashes.

A youthful motorist and a passenger in his car were injured about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday when the car skidded in loose gravel and rolled over the embankment of the levee road. The car rolled about halfway down the embankment before coming to a stop.

Injured were Larry Hacke, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hacke, 28 Riviera drive, driver of the car, and Connie Spaulding, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Spaulding, 4027 Garden lane. Both were thrown out of the car.

Young Hacke was admitted to the hospital with a broken left shoulder, contusions to the arm, chest and face. Miss Spaulding, also admitted to the hospital, suffered a sprained right shoulder, pain in the right rib section and contusions to the back.

Madison Teachers Accept $28 to $66 Monthly Pay Hikes

Salary increase offers ranging from $28 to $66 per month were accepted by the Madison Federation of Teachers with a master's degree plus 30 credit hours who have reached the end of the 12-year salary schedule.

The pay raises will cost the school district a total of $60,000, including salary increments, according to Ray Dragic, superintendent of schools. The additional funds will come from increases in state aid provided by the last session of the Illinois legislature.

Teachers with bachelor's degrees at the end of the salary schedule will receive $888 per month, up $38; new teachers with master's degrees will receive $716, up $28; those with master's degrees at the end of the salary schedule will receive $1081 per month, up $65; new teachers with master's degrees plus 30 hours will receive $749, up $28; and those with master's plus 30 hours at the end of the salary schedule will receive $1094, up $66.

There were no changes in salary schedule provisions for athletic department personnel, Supt. Dragic said.

The new contract is subject to formal approval by the school board at its September meeting.

Draft Board Reminder On Deferment Requests

The County Selective Service Board at Edwardsville today reminded undergraduate students that they must submit a written request for deferment in addition to the certification of their school status after school starts in September.

Local Board 167 officials said the deferment requests have been coming in late and that students have overlooked the necessity of their individual request. Deferment cannot be granted under the law unless both requirements are met, officials said.

Aided by Trailriders Saddle Club

Horsemanship merit badge certificates are to be awarded to 49 local Boy and Girl Scouts in a ceremony to be held next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA.

The coveted badge—unique for this community—was earned by the scouts during the summer with the aid of members of the local Trailriders Saddle Club which has its arena over the old levee at the end of Rock road.

Mrs. Evelyn Alford, president of the saddle club and director of the program, said the cooperation of the members and the scouting organizations brought about the instruction for the large group of Scouts. To earn the badge, a Boy or Girl Scout was required to learn how to handle, ride and care for a horse, and the course included horse shoeing.

19 Scouts to Get Horsemanship Badges

LEARNING HOW TO SHOE A HORSE is a little more difficult than learning how to tie a shoe, these Girl Scouts are finding out at the Trailriders Saddle Club horsemanship summer program. Blacksmith Corky Helms is demonstrating the technique, while the Girl Scouts and Nancy Hodge (far right), a Girl Scout who helped in the instruction, look on.

Cooperation Sought Here IYC's New Approach to Juvenile Problem

A relatively new approach to the juvenile problem—new at least to the Quad-City area—is being carried out here by the Community Services Division of the Illinois Youth Commission.

Described as a "fresh look at pre-delinquent youth," the Illinois Youth Commission is seeking to attack juvenile delinquency by attempting to recruit individuals in specific areas of the community to help with preventive measures in their own neighborhoods.

The initial canvassing is in the West Granite area in an effort to locate persons interested in helping with the project, according to Don Hornberger, an Illinois Youth Commission representative, assigned to the IYC Regional office in East St. Louis.

A former life-long resident of the Quad-Cities, Hornberger now lives in Millstadt, but is planning to move his family to Granite City as quickly as possible.

Door-to-door Survey

The IYC representative said today that an informal door-to-door survey among West Granite families was under way. "I discuss with the people I meet their feelings on juvenile delinquency... what should be done to alleviate the problem and, at the same time, explain the IYC program to them," Hornberger explained.

"With individuals displaying a keen interest in the program, I then discuss the deeper aspects of community responsibility and solicit their assistance in setting up a neighborhood advisory group," the IYC consultant explained.

Hornberger said that past practices of the Illinois Youth Commission have been primarily devoted to working with youth through the courts system and assisting in rehabilitating juveniles already in trouble with the law.

He are now attempting to reach and influence the pre-delinquent through the neighborhood participation project and, subsequently, avoid an institutional experience and a possible life of crime," the IYC consultant explained.

"The Neighborhoods Uniting for Delinquency Prevention" program has functioned very successfully in the Chicago area for several years," Hornberger said. It pointed out that a total of 100 community council and committee members working with the IYC and the Illinois Federation of Community Councils conduct the overall Chicago program.

"Since adult committee members live within the neighborhood, they are set up to help, they know all too well the conditions which foster delinquency. Committee members know the problems as specific family situations... neighborhood opinions and sentiment... and therefore are in a better position to carry on effective delinquency prevention activity, as opposed to outsiders," Hornberger explained.

"We know that the typical delinquent is a product of his environment," the IYC consultant said.

Important to Rte. 151

Mayor Partney said that with the Federal Aid Route 151 here, federal designation for the two streets is almost assured. He has conferred also with the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, but the agency was unaware of the Niedringhaus avenue problems here. "They told me that the East-West Gateway comprehensive study of high-

Venice Assessment List is Published

The Venice township assessment list, fixing 1967 property valuations at $52,567,040, is published in today's issue of the Press-Record on pages 44 thru 54.

The valuations listed are those fixed by the township assessor and are subject to change by the Madison County board of review. The Venice assessment is $1,240,250 less than the 1966 valuation of $53,807,290, as determined by the Board of Review.

Venice taxpayers who plan to protest their assessments must do so by filing an objection with the Board of Review within ten days after the date of today's publication. Forms are available from the board of review at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

The Board of Review then will hold hearings for each objecting taxpayer and the final valuation figure will be fixed for the township after the hearings are completed.

Mayor Suggests Downtown Mall for GC Revitalization

Revitalizing the downtown Granite City business district can only be accomplished through cooperation of city officials and willingness of downtown merchants to do their part, Mayor Donald Partney told members of the Granite City Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday.

"Anything I can do to cooperate with the business community toward a renewal program, I will assuredly do," the mayor emphasized. "I suggest the downtown merchants hire an architect . . . spend a little money . . . and start a renewal project . . . such as building a mall along 19th street."

"I believe we should offer our citizens the goods and services they want here at home, rather than have them shop across the river. Some years ago I suggested a similar suggestion to downtown businessmen, proposing construction of a shopping mall. The primary objection appeared to be, 'What do we do with the traffic?'"

"Other communities have revitalized their city centers in this manner and have substantially increased their tax base, and the city's earnings via added sales tax, through use of covered walkways, remodeling second floors into attractive office space and restricting traffic from the mall shopping areas," the mayor remarked.

City Is Big Business
Commenting the business of administering Granite City is "big business," Mayor Partney pointed out that appropriations for the 1967-68 fiscal year amount to $2,163,074. "This is definitely big business," he said. "I have attempted to put my administration as a business and in doing so have run into a lot of problems and some department heads and some citizens have acted as chairman of a citizens committee to locate a medical school at Southern Illinois University - Southwestern campus." Mayor Partney told the Rotary club members.

"A school of this type would help our community by giving our boys and girls a higher education in a field where personnel is greatly needed. The Illinois State Medical Society recognizes there is a shortage of physicians in southern Illinois, also there is a tendency for graduates of medical schools to locate near the site of their schools."

"Outside of the city of Chicago, there are no medical schools in the state of Illinois," the mayor pointed out. He added the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors was highly receptive to the proposed location of a medical school in this area.

Need Businessmen
"Most of the people at this meeting today are businessmen," Mayor Partney said. "Take a look at our city council. Of the 16 councilmen, at least 80% should be businessmen. Men who understand business. We must learn to work together to build the cities of tomorrow, even if it means forcing ourselves into the picture. Gentlemen, give this a lot of thought between now and the election in April 1968," the Mayor concluded.

Replying to several questions from the floor, Mayor Partney said the city currently is attempting to get federal and state funds to improve Niedringhaus avenue and 20th street. Without federal or state aid, he said, it is impossible to provide the amount of services required by our citizens. The tax dollar just isn't there for it.

The mayor remarked he would like to see Maryville road extended south from Pontiac to Highway 160, creating a belt-line across the eastern section of the city. Also, he commented in answer to a query, funds allocated earlier for paving and widening Johnson road, one of the heaviest travelled thoroughfares in the community, have been used elsewhere.

"I thought after the Nameoki road project was completed, we could get on to the Johnson road improvements. However, the money is not there at the present time, the city official replied. According to state engineers, today are busier at the intersection of Nameoki and Johnson roads does not warrant a left turn signal, despite several requests for such a signal change, he explained.

Carl Mathias, program chairman, expressed the club members' appreciation for the mayor's appearance at the luncheon meeting. Approximately 50 attended.

Arthur R. Koerper, president, was in charge of the business session.

Repeating to several questions from the floor, Mayor Partney said the city currently is attempting to get federal and state funds to improve Niedringhaus avenue and 20th street. Repeating to several questions from the floor, Mayor Partney said the city currently is attempting to get federal and state funds to improve Niedringhaus avenue and 20th street. Without federal or state aid, he said, it is impossible to provide the amount of services required by our citizens. The tax dollar just isn't there for it.

Reiske, who said no local observance is planned for the holiday, was unable to determine how many local participants there will be in the Belleville parade, which is scheduled to start at 10 a.m.

Boating Mishaps, Injuries Increasing in Illinois

The 1966 edition of the Coast Guard's annual boating statistics report showed an alarming increase last year in both property damage and personal injuries to Illinois boat owners.

There were 131 reported boating accidents in Illinois in 1966 compared to 114 the year before. With 187 vessels involved, property damage to Illinois boaters totaled $167,200, $53,700 more than the 1965 figure.

The number of personal injuries in the state rose from 72 in 1965 to 120 last year. At the same time, the number of vessels registered in Illinois was 1410 less than the previous year.

Boating accidents also increased nationwide. Last year there were 4350 reported accidents compared with 3750 the year before, a jump of 16%.

Admiral Willard J. Smith, Commandant of the Coast Guard, commented on the national figures.

"The Coast Guard is the first to acknowledge," said the commandant, "that this increase is due, at least to some extent, to better accident reporting by the boating public." "However," he cautioned, "pleasure boaters as well as those having professional interest in boating safety should not be content with simply attributing all such increases to better reporting. Boating may not be as safe as ever."

The report does offer one bright note, however, in that the total number of fatal accidents in the country actually decreased from the prior year. Boating claimed 1318 lives in 1966 compared to 1303 killed in 1965.

At the close of 1966, the nation's boating fleet was estimated over 8.2 million craft, with roughly four million of these vessels numbered under the provisions of the Federal Boating Act of 1958. Illinois accounts for nearly 4 per cent of the total registered vessels.

Copies of Boating Statistics 1966 are available from Commandant (OLE-S), U. S. Coast Guard, Washington, D. S. 20501.

Parked Car Damaged

A parking car owned by Charles Pickens, 925a Madison avenue, was damaged in the left rear and left front by a hit-and-run driver at 2:10 a.m. yesterday. The accident occurred at Tenth street and Madison avenue, police reported. The driver of the hit-and-run car fled south on Madison avenue after the accident, it was reported.

SIU Campuses Get $570,462 Grant for Student Loans

Federal funds of $570,462 from the National Defense Student Loan Program have been allocated to Southern Illinois University for the 1967-68 school year.

The money will provide financial assistance based on proven need to approximately 1600 students at the Carbondale and Southern Illinois campuses.

The allocation comes from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and is administered by the SIU Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance. The amount for the coming year is an increase of $41,186 over 1965-66 and compares with the less than $100,000 which the university received in 1968, the first year of the program.

Under the National Defense Student Loan Program, undergraduates may borrow up to $1000 per year and graduate students may receive up to $2500 per year. Repayment does not begin until nine months after the student graduates or leaves school for any other reason.

Last year, the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance reported that it dispensed more than $7 million in federal, state and local funds in the form of loans, awards, grants and salaries to student workers. During 1965-66, more than 8000 students held part time jobs on campus.

Religious Studies Program at SIU

A new program of Religious Studies will be introduced at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, this fall, Roger E. Beyler, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, has announced.

To be offered this fall are three courses: "Biblical Studies, An Introduction to Old Testament History and Literature," "History of Western Religious Thought" and "Religious Foundations of Western Civilization."

Students may submit Religious Studies as a minor for the bachelor's degree, using these three subjects, courses in non-Western thought, and designated courses in one of the following departments—history, English, philosophy, sociology or psychology, Beyler said.

During the initial phase of the new program, Milton D. McLean, visiting professor in the philosophy department, will act as its director.

The faculty committee on religious studies, headed by David Christensen, associate professor of geography, will advise during the transitional stages in the program, Beyler said.

Need to Promote American Way, Kiwanians Told

Businessmen should accept the change and increase their knowledge of the United States economic picture and subsequently become more articulate in expressing themselves in order to better educate others in the values of the American system, Granite City Kiwanians were told Monday evening.

The speaker was Howard Colquitt, executive director of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, who addressed members of the local service club at their weekly dinner meeting in the Rose Bowl restaurant.

"Our economic system has brought the United States to the highest point of civilization in the history of the world," Colquitt said. He briefly reviewed the background of economics, comparing the American system to others over which governments exercise rigid control.

The C. of C. official commented that mankind should become users of material objects for cultural, spiritual and physical well-being, rather than just collectors of material things.

A letter was read from Col. Charles E. Hoskin III, commanding officer of the Granite City Army Depot, expressing the Depot's appreciation to the club for presentation of a plaque which commemorated the installation of the 25th anniversary.

Due to the Labor Day holiday, the club's regular meeting was postponed until Tuesday, Sept. 5, with a roundtable at 6 p.m. at the Rose Bowl.

Police Chief Issues Warning on Solicitor

Local businessmen were warned this week to be on the alert for a young man who is soliciting advertising for two publications.

Granite City Police Chief Ronald A. Veizer said today the subject of the St. Louis Municipal Opera this season. The two local residents were the $76 and $77 persons to participate in the 11 trips sponsored by park officials in 1967.

Chief Veizer commented that on both occasions the man offered to sell advertising space, at $20 and $25 rates, for insertion in publications supposedly for a sheriff's organization and for city hall. Chief Veizer said neither publication exists, according to an investigation by the police department.

The police chief said that only two official solicitations are made each year in connection with state or local police organizations. In both instances, he added, the person seeking a donation is always accompanied by a uniformed police officer.

One of the requests is for contributions to the local police health and welfare fund, while the second solicitation is made on an alternate, yearly basis by the Illinois Policemen's Association and the Illinois Police Benevolent and Protective Association, Chief Veizer explained.

Radiological Defense Training Scheduled

Specialized Civil Defense training for Radiological Defense officers will be presented by the Illinois Civil Defense agency at the St. Clair County Civil Defense headquarters in Swansea beginning Sept. 13, it was announced yesterday. The course will be taught by University of Illinois instructors.

Graduates of the course will be qualified to serve cities, counties or states as radiological defense officers. Many industries and hospitals also may take advantage of the classes to train personnel. The training is part of a state-wide university program designed to provide Illinois with a greater capability to cope with radioactive fallout conditions which might be caused by a nuclear war.

In addition to the radiological officers course, the program includes instructor training in community fallout shelter management, emergency operations simulation techniques and special civil defense orientation conferences for leaders in business, industry and government.

GC Council Votes Down Street Tax Boost

Despite a lack of funds to carry out special street improvement programs, Granite City council members voted down Monday night an ordinance to increase the city street and bridge tax rate from the present six cents to ten cents per $100 valuation.

The new 10-cent rate was authorized at the last session of the state legislature, and City Atty. Allen said he had prepared the ordinance after being asked by several council members to a close watch on new legislation being signed by Gov. Kerner.

Alderman Nomm, chairman of Ordinance committee, refused to submit the ordinance for adoption. Alderman Robertson motioned for it to be tabled.

The motion to table was approved after Bartoski remarked there was no need to increase the tax now, since the budget for 1967-68 has been set.

Transfers Still Pending
An accounting of the actual balance in the sales tax fund was requested by the council to get a true picture of the city's financial picture.

Comptroller Robert Stevens was asked to submit the figures at next Tuesday evening's council session.

The request was made after Nomm for a second time refused to call for action as committee chairman. "It's on the table," he remarked as he held up a resolution that was read last week calling for transfer of funds from the sales tax and working cash accounts to wipe out the $95,585 deficit in the sewer maintenance account.

Last week, the council took no action on the resolution, requesting details of all sewer maintenance expenditures. Alderman Rutledge motioned for the resolution to be placed on first reading, and approval was voted 10-5.

There was a brief discussion before the vote. Nomm pointed out the transfer would cut the sales tax reserve to $17,000 to $20,000. Rutledge explained the sales tax fund was that low, and showed a larger balance only because the sewer maintenance account was listed on financial reports in a red figure.

"Money Has Been Spent"
"The money has been spent, and now we need to face the fact that the $100,000 sales tax reserve actually is much lower. All this resolution does is correct a bookkeeping procedure of listing some accounts in the red and showing large balances in funds from which the money actually has been spent without the formality of a transfer resolution," Rutledge said.

Voting for the fund-transfer resolution on first reading were Aldermen Dallas, Whitmer, Boyd, Poulos, Green, Rutledge, Basarich, Fry, Parmley and Daves. Opposed were: Moerlein, Bartoski, Nomm, Robertson and Johnson.

The resolution specifies that $102,025 is to be transferred to the sewer maintenance account, including $25,027 from sales tax reserves and $77,000 from the working cash fund.

The sewer maintenance expense report submitted by Comptroller Stevens showed that nearly a half-million dollars was spent on sewer repairs in the Nameoki area and along East 20th street in the period 1961 through 1964, and that $11,360 was spent in 1966 for repairs to a sanitary sewer break off Maryville road. Most of the repair bills were paid from the sales tax reserve.

Suggests Hiring CPA
Later in the meeting, Rutledge recommended the city consider employing a Certified Public Accountant firm to audit the city's books each year.

Rutledge said that the present audit, while proper and correct, are not completely satisfactory in that changes recommended finally by the auditor are not included in the written report. Rutledge noted that the problem of fund transfers would not have come up as it has, if the auditor had advised the council that expenditures from deficit accounts were not permissible under state law. "The city treasurer and comptroller made the discovery," Rutledge told the council.

The council authorized the comptroller to get proposals from several CPA firms.

Accepted by the council was a state audit of motor fuel tax funds for 1966. The report showed the city received $301,782 in MFT allocations during the year and spent $280,444, leaving a balance on Dec. 31, 1966, of $12,338.

The bill list approved by the council included major items of $481 salaries for special census workers, $1913 paid to Research Planning & Design for engineering services.

The tax levy ordinance based on the city's 1967-68 budget was not ready Monday night. It will be presented for adoption at next Tuesday's meeting.

GC Council Votes Down Street Tax Boost

Despite a lack of funds to carry out special street improvement programs, Granite City council members voted down Monday night an ordinance to increase the city street and bridge tax rate from the present six cents to ten cents per $100 valuation.

The new 10-cent rate was authorized at the last session of the state legislature, and City Atty. Allen said he had prepared the ordinance after being asked by several council members to a close watch on new legislation being signed by Gov. Kerner.

Alderman Nomm, chairman of Ordinance committee, refused to submit the ordinance for adoption. Alderman Robertson motioned for it to be tabled.

The motion to table was approved after Bartoski remarked there was no need to increase the tax now, since the budget for 1967-68 has been set.

Transfers Still Pending
An accounting of the actual balance in the sales tax fund was requested by the council to get a true picture of the city's financial picture.

Comptroller Robert Stevens was asked to submit the figures at next Tuesday evening's council session.

The request was made after Nomm for a second time refused to call for action as committee chairman. "It's on the table," he remarked as he held up a resolution that was read last week calling for transfer of funds from the sales tax and working cash accounts to wipe out the $95,585 deficit in the sewer maintenance account.

Last week, the council took no action on the resolution, requesting details of all sewer maintenance expenditures. Alderman Rutledge motioned for the resolution to be placed on first reading, and approval was voted 10-5.

There was a brief discussion before the vote. Nomm pointed out the transfer would cut the sales tax reserve to $17,000 to $20,000. # 49 Local Scouts

Virgil Travis and his daughter Jolene, Corky Helms, a professional horse-shoer, and two Girl Scouts from River Bluffs Council and seven Boy Scouts from Cahokia Mounds Council knew little or nothing about horses at the beginning of the program, they learned quickly, Mrs. Alford reported.

In August, the group went for a trail ride at the L & W ranch in Missouri, and by last Saturday they were successful enough equestrians to stage a horse show at the club.

Tuesday night's convening at the YMCA at 7:30 signifies all the scouts have mastered the scouting manual's requirements for good horsemanship.

Next summer, Mrs. Alford said, the Saddle club will continue the program and hopes to enlist more boys. The reason less boys than girls were in the program this summer was that while the girls could work for the merit badges, the boys were required to do so individually, she said.

Whole troops of Girl Scouts are expected to bring more of the scouts in the program next summer, Mrs. Alford predicted.

Scouts in Program

The scouts in this summer's program were:
Girl Scout Troop 704—Pat Eaton (leader), Kathy Harrington, Karen Lee, Francis Lee, Francis Wally, Kitty Chapline, Diane Emring, Becky Graham, Debbie McKinney, Ruth Bird, Jo Head, Donna Sanders, Barbara Frazier and Pam Clay.
Girl Scout Troop 725—Jo Ann Jarrett (leader), Sally Shirlall and Vicki Jarrett.
Girl Scout Troop 725—Doris Votaw (leader), Pat Stajduhar, Kathy Stajduhar, Donna Spahr, Colleen Down, Vicki Gerkin and Phyllis Benoit.

Girl Scout Troop 234—Norma Walton (leader), Lois King, Marcella King, Sherry Stengel, Beverly Bloodworth, Sharon Griffith, Neida Walton, Kathy Davis, Pam Jarvis, Elaine Noth and Pam Kessler.
Girl Scout Troop 231—Vee Thorne (leader), Pamela Thorne, Vicki Georff, Connie Coe, ways in the two-state area will not be completed until 1968.

"I feel the connection between Federal Route 151 and State Highway 162 is most important not only to the economy of the local community, but also would be important to the federal government," the mayor continued.

For example, he added, "the Army Depot vehicles make 4280 trips a month over Niedringhaus avenue, and that doesn't include the 2400 daily trips by employees on their way to and from work."

With the cooperation of the Depot, I don't think Granite City will experience too much difficulty in getting federal assistance for this program.

"The overpass is vital as a connecting link between two important areas of Granite City that at times are cut off from each other by trains, and this is occurring more and more often."

Traffic Tie-Ups

"If we don't get an overpass, the backup of traffic at the crossing will extend for miles instead of just blocks," the mayor added.

His announcement of the plan to seek federal aid on a 90% basis was made as complaints were voiced during Monday night's council meeting of the need for adequate drainage facilities along the streets in West Granite that are being bisected by Route 151.

Alderman Nott stressed that it would be important not only to drain the area properly but also for the government to consider aid to improve extensively the roadways of Rock road and West 20th street.

These are needed, Nott said, to provide adequate roadways not only to connect with Route 151, but also to serve the harbors along the Chain of Rocks canal.

Students Use Knives On 'Frustration Table'

Students brandishing knives, nail files and assorted cutting instruments clamor daily into the Ranger Coffee House of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus to carve on the top of the "Frustration table."

The table was purchased to help provide the new campus with tradition and to give each student an opportunity to live his own personal legacy in the form of his initials, according to the University Center director, Robert Handy.

The maple table top will be replaced yearly for new student carvings. The year will be burned in the center of the old top, and it will be placed in the recreation area of the University Center to become part of the building decor.

Other schools have used the carved table top and have found it a successful way to eliminate carving on other tables, Handy said.

"It is hoped that students will exhibit maturity and good judgment in their carvings. Any carving in bad taste will be sanded off."

IYC's New

Inherent is a child who, for a number of reasons, has been rejected and excluded from all but delinquent groups. And so, the program is geared to weave a web of warmth, of acceptance and of consideration around the lives of the neighborhood children."

The task of giving them the experience of being wanted members of an orderly society falls to the neighborhood group, the IYC consultant said. Subcommittees from the nucleus group will work closely with the schools, administrators, police department, health and welfare agencies and local service clubs interested in youth, he added.

Admitting that the new project is far-reaching and "may take quite some time to develop," Hornberger said, "I am relying a great deal on the assistance of C. A. 'Bud' McMillan of the Coordinated Youth Services and local police juvenile officers."

He explained that after a neighborhood committee is formulated and functioning, the project will be expanded to other sections of the community.

"There are a great many fine people in West Granite who have shown an interest in developing this program. I hope other responsible citizens I plan to contact will see its advantages and agree to join in finding a solution to their own local problems," he added.

Hornberger, who will be graduated this year from McKendree College at Lebanon, was employed as a Caseworker I with the Missouri Welfare Division

Seek Air Technician's Services as Adviser

George Arnold of Edwardsville, who recently resigned as chief of technical services for the Missouri Air Conservation Commission, has been asked to serve as technical adviser for the air pollution committee of the Madison county board of supervisors.

The committee announced at a meeting Monday night that it was awaiting a decision from Arnold as to whether he will serve on a free basis.

Arnold resigned his Missouri post to join the staff of Southern Illinois University as a research associate at the Southwestern campus to study air and water pollution in industry. He is attempting to obtain permission from SIU to serve as the county's technical adviser.

William G. Straube, committee chairman said that if Arnold can accept the post, the committee could launch public hearings on proposed air resource standards set up in an ordinance drafted by State's Attorney Leon Scroggins. The county board has not yet acted on the clean air bill.

Inter-City Season to End With Key Games Here on Sunday, Labor Day

Three games will be played locally during the Labor Day weekend as the Southwestern Illinois Inter-City Baseball League ends its 1967 season. Playoff berths remain to be decided in both divisions.

Sacred Heart is in third place in the Red Division but is only a game ahead of East St. Louis with each team in the league still having two games to play, on Sunday and Monday. Troy and Collinsville Molitor are tied for first place in the same division.

East Alton is assured of the Blue Division championship but Mercer of Granite City and the Pocahontas Braves are deadlocked for second place and will attempt to decide second and third place during the holiday weekend.

All weekend action will involve single games, starting at 2:30 p.m.

Games at Park, Coolidge

Games involving Quad-City teams Sunday will see Mercer hosting the Maryville Red Sox at Wilson Park, Granite City Steel Credit Union entertaining Collinsville Molitor at the Coolidge junior high school diamond and Sacred Heart visiting the Bullets at East Alton.

Troy's opponent Sunday will be the Braves at Pocahontas, and East St. Louis' foe will be the Utes at Fletcher Field in Collinsville.

Labor Day competition will be highlighted by a Mercer-Sacred Heart clash at Wilson Park and a Credit Union visit to the East St. Louis Polish-American War Veterans at Jones Park.

Other Monday games send Pocahontas to Maryville, East Alton to Troy and the Utes to Collinsville Molitor.

Playoff Prospects

As it prepares to play one of the two top-ranking teams in the Red Division, Granite City Steel Credit Union finds itself destined to finish fourth in the Blue Division, with no chance to move up.

However, Mercer is certain of participating in the post-season playoffs and Sacred Heart stands a good chance of qualifying.

Third-place teams will visit second-place teams Sept. 10, with the survivors then meeting the season champions Sept. 17 to decide division representatives. The "world series" of the league, the final playoff round, is set for Sept. 24 and Oct. 1, plus an Oct. 8 game if necessary.

Big Squad Competing For Warrior Varsity

terday and the first full day of classes held today, Morrison is offering this advice to all prospective team members: "Study hard from the first day, and don't waste valuable time."

Progress academically will be a big factor in determining the football roster, he stresses.

Morrison himself is living proof that both athletics and textbooks can be given adequate consideration simultaneously by a student seeking both knowledge and achievement in the realm of physical education.

A native Ohioan, he graduated from Roosevelt high school in Dayton in 1952.

During his high school days he lettered in football and tennis and was a member of the basketball team. He received honorable mention in selection of all-city football team in his senior year.

Hayes, Puddington

At Ohio State University, Morrison played football under the tutelage of Coach Woody Hayes. He received a bachelor of science degree in education, was a major in industrial arts and a minor in driver education.

He earned a master degree in physical education from Washington University, St. Louis, where he was an associate football coach of the Fighting Bear team under Coach Dave Puddington.

He coached football and track for three years at the Euclid, O. high school. He was head junior varsity coach for a team that won 16 out of 17 games. His track teams produced a state champion and several state finalists.

In addition to his head football and track coaching duties at GCHS, Morrison teaches driver education and physical education.

He and his wife, Betty, have two children, Paul, 6, and Patricia Jeanne, 1½.

1964 Team Records

Although the Warriors last year won only two of nine games, the record going back through 1963 totals 19 wins, 16 losses and a tie. Three of the past four seasons have brought winning records, 5-3-1, 7-2 and 5-4.

His coaching staff consists of Gordon Galbreath, defensive backfield; Tom Wyrastek, defensive line; Leon Chappell, end; Bob Siegmeyer, offensive backfield; and Stan Wojcik, offensive line.

As is traditional, some of the familiar faces of the past are missing from this year's squad. Graduate of 1966 who are in college on football scholarships include Jim Henzel and Steve Conway at Millikin, Terry Moore at the University of Missouri, Bob Prince at Southern Illinois University and Richard White at Western Illinois University.

The 11 lettermen who are returning from the 1966 team are Dave Anderson, fullback, 159 pounds, 5'9"; Russell Borsh, guard, 180 pounds, 5'10"; Mike Dochwat, guard, 177, 5'11"; John Hommert, tackle, 206, 6'4"; James, end, 170, 6'4"; Gary Kinnemann, center, 192, 5'11"; Ronald Laws, fullback, 148, 6'6"; Jim McCart, end, 153, 6'4"; Ronald Shipard, fullback, 159, 5'10"; David Snelton, quarterback, 160, 5'9"; and James Johnson, tackle.

Varsity Candidates

Other candidates for the varsity backfield include Thomas Carmody, fullback, 150 and 5'9"; Rich Logan, fullback, 161, 5'8"; Dave Mullenix, fullback, 127 and 5'10"; and David Salich, fullback, 197 and 6'2".

Contenders for starting positions also include Ralph Burnett, end, 150 and 5'9"; Dennis Huebner, center, 173 and 5'10"; Steve Stelf, end, 162 and 5'9"; Tim Wallace, guard, 189 and 5'6"; Roger Laws, 161 and 6'1"; and Doug Wickham, 228 and 5'11".

Although the season will encompass nine games and continue until mid-November, primary thought is being given to the opening contest.

It will be a battle of tribes, with the Warriors meeting the Cahokia high school Comanches at the Cahokia field at 8 p.m. Sept. 15.

Cahokia has a new "big chief" this year, Gene Muzzarelli is the new varsity grid coach, and welcoming him are ten 1966 lettermen.

Defending Champions

In attempting to maintain or improve on a 7-2 mark last year, Cahokia will stress top conditioning, the coach reports. The Comanches won the Midwestern Conference championship in 1966. Co-captains are Skip Bailey and Tony Moravice, and Bailey will be the key man in the Comanche offense, having been a high scorer last year.

Other Cahokia prospects include Tyrone Haywood, a guard, Tom Ruckies and Jim Williams, halfbacks, Dan Faigle, center, and Michael McGrew, tackle.

ONE OF THE FAVORITES at U. S. Auto Club races at the Tri-City Speedway tomorrow night will be this member of the 100-MPH Club, Bud Tingelstad, who placed 14th in the Indianapolis "500" this year and set the USAC track record at the local speedway this June.

5-10; Mike Pekarik, halfback, 153 and 5'9"; and David Salich, fullback, 197 and 6'2".

Contenders for starting positions also include Ralph Burnett, end, 150 and 5'9"; Dennis Huebner, center, 173 and 5'10"; Steve Stelf, end, 162 and 5'9"; Tim Wallace, guard, 189 and 5'6"; Roger Laws, 161 and 6'1"; and Doug Wickham, 228 and 5'11".

Although the season will encompass nine games and continue until mid-November, primary thought is being given to the opening contest.

It will be a battle of tribes, with the Warriors meeting the Cahokia high school Comanches at the Cahokia field at 8 p.m. Sept. 15.

Cahokia has a new "big chief" this year, Gene Muzzarelli is the new varsity grid coach, and welcoming him are ten 1966 lettermen.

Defending Champions

In attempting to maintain or improve on a 7-2 mark last year, Cahokia will stress top conditioning, the coach reports. The Comanches won the Midwestern Conference championship in 1966. Co-captains are Skip Bailey and Tony Moravice, and Bailey will be the key man in the Comanche offense, having been a high scorer last year.

Other Cahokia prospects include Tyrone Haywood, a guard, Tom Ruckies and Jim Williams, halfbacks, Dan Faigle, center, and Michael McGrew, tackle.

GC Chapter Second In State DeMolay Softball Tournament

The Granite City DeMolay softball squad wound up its season with a second-place finish at the 29th annual DeMolay state softball tournament at Rockford College, the team reported after returning home early this week.

The team won its semifinal game 5-2 over the Mercer DeMolay chapter of Alton, central Illinois champion. The local southern Illinois championship squad then lost to a bigger, stronger team from the Woodland chapter of Chicago 15-2 in the title game.

Mike Asadorian's home run in the sixth inning was one of the bright spots for the local DeMolays in the final game. Coach Charles Meyer commented that the Woodland boys "looked like the St. Louis football Cardinals" and gave his team rough going on the bases.

Asadorian held Mercer to three hits and contributed a single along with other hits by Mike Weiser, Tom Yikopas and Terry Waller. The local DeMolays took a three-run lead in the first inning.

Roof Climber Charged

Let Us All Re-Dedicate Our Pledge to Our Country and Our Flag in the Words of Abraham Lincoln

"Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his prosperity, swear by the blood of the Revolution, never to violate in the least particular, the laws of the country . . . Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father and to tear the character of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother, to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap—Let it be taught in schools, in seminaries and in colleges; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. And in short, let it become the political religion of the nation; and let the old and young, rich and poor, the grave and gay, of all sexes, tongues and colors and conditions, sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars."

12 Teams Still Alive in Holiday Meet

Teams that have not yet tasted defeat in the Wilson Park Labor Day men's softball tournament will see action tonight. Play will continue night until the championship is decided on Labor Day, Monday evening.

Tonight's schedule pairs Tony & Joe's and Mexican Honorary at 6 o'clock, Sam's and Pal-Salt at 7 o'clock, Club Delmar and Liberty Home at 8 o'clock and Community Heights and Kirschner at 9 o'clock.

The four teams losing tonight will play at the identical times tomorrow night. Their opponents will be Abel's at 6 o'clock, Merchants at 7 o'clock, All-Stars at 8 o'clock and Rockyzy Realty at 9 o'clock.

Winners tonight and Friday will collide in four contests Saturday night.

With no team eliminated until it has lost twice, competition will continue Sunday with games at 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 p.m.

The title will be decided by a game at 7 p.m. Monday or, if a second game is necessary, it will follow immediately. Individual trophies will be awarded to each member of the championship squad.

Eight Teams Outted

Teams eliminated so far are the Zips, West 22nd, Branding, Dog n' Sids, Metz, Church B, Dairy Master and Bowler Trucking.

Squads with single defeats are Abel's, Merchants, Rockyzy and All-Stars.

Last night there were three lopsided contests and one saw-saw battle.

Advancing easily were the Merchants, 13-1 over Bowler. All-Stars 27-2 over West 22nd and Rockyzy 12-3 over the Zips. Abel's Auto Boat, behind most of the game, beat the Metz 18-7.

George Syles scattered 10 hits against Bowler while Norm Hessler with three hits and Norm Grete with two sparked the Merchants' 14-hit attack.

All-Stars outted West 22nd by 25-5 and pounded out five homers, including two each by Mike Harris and Norm Lesko and one by Kevin Colligan. Dave Temko and Norm Warnock had four hits apiece for the All-Stars and Al Kraviec picked up the pitching victory.

Rockyzy broke a 2-2 sixth-inning deadlock against the Zips with five runs in that inning and five in the next, stringing together six hits in each frame. Frank Evans went the distance and scattered 11 hits to win. Paul Mosby had four of Rockyzy's 16 hits.

Abel's needed four runs in the fifth, five in the sixth and three in the seventh to achieve its one-run victory. The Metz had four back ideas of their own, as they rallied for four runs in their final turn at bat.

The highest honor in the Cadette line was bestowed upon Debbie Smith and Pamela Throne, who have completed the four challenges and the required proficiency badges. Both received First Class Badges.

Upon completion of the awards Junior Scouts Sally Skirball, Becky Von Hall and Vicki Jarrett were bridged to the Cadette Troop by Mrs. JoAnn Jarrett, leader of Junior Troop 275, and Mrs. Ruth Jones, co-leader.

A poem "Ode to a Leader" written by Mrs. McNeilly was read by Cadette Valerie Law to Mrs. Vee Throne, who advanced as adviser of newly organized Senior Troop 1177. The Cadette also presented the parting leader with a gift. There was also a parting gift to the leader by Cadette Troop, Mrs. Jarrett.

Mrs. Lockhart and Mrs. McNeilly assisted in the bridging from Cadettes to Seniors for Paula Burgener, Diane Fecurka, Brenda Pasley, Debbie Smith and Pamela Throne. The new Seniors were received by Senior Barbara Marcus, Cathy Spahn and Peggy West.

Jaycee directors also named Richard Dawdy, a Granite City Trust and Savings Bank employee, to fill the office of president, previously held by Jeffries. The two new officers were elected by unanimous vote.

Day announced confirmation of the Jaycees' successful bid to host the district meeting here on Saturday, Oct. 21. Representatives from 25 area Chapters are expected to attend the affair, which will include business sessions and a dinner-dance. The event will be held at the VFW hall.

Third board members were present at last night's meeting.

Another Maxvill?

Duane Achley, 10, a former Granite Cityan and a cousin of St. Louis Cardinals shortstop Dal Maxvill, has been named a St. Louis Cardinals baseball player in California.

The achievement of which he is proudest is selection, through voting by his teammates, as the most valuable player on his team.

His father, Harold Achley, an employee of the Oakland Army Base, is a first cousin of Shortstop Maxvill's father.

California Teammates Honor Duane Achley

Duane Achley, 10, whose parents moved from Granite City to Concord, Calif., last January, has remained a St. Louis Cardinals baseball fan despite living near the San Francisco Giants. And he is continuing to pursue his goal of following in the footsteps of a relative, Dal Maxvill of the Cardinals.

A pitcher for the Val Strough Chevrolet boys' team of Pleasant Hill, Calif., Achley batted .463 (runner-up to the league leader's .647) and tied a record by striking out 16 batters in one of the 1967 games. His team won 14 games and clinched two one-run decisions to tie for first place in its league.

MORE ABOUT State, U. S.

See for Themselves

"I've been called a liar too many times about the landfill blocking drainage channels and I would like for the officials to see for themselves," Segar said.

Location of the landfill in a potential flood area will be the basis of the citizens' legal proceedings to close down the dump, Segar declared. He said state law prohibits operation of a landfill in an area subject to flooding, and that "Clifford and Buehler (Carl Buehler, Granite City supervisor and chairman of the Sanitation committee) have said this themselves several times."

Government Bill Levee

He said the drainage district operates under a merit system established by the Army Engineers after the government spent $86,000 in 1948 to rebuild the Chouteau Island levee. "Therefore," Segar pointed out, "the Army Engineers have considerable interest in this area, and anything that is done to hamper flood control operations."

Clifford and members of the Sanitation committee of the county board of supervisors made an on-site inspection of the landfill a week ago. They then announced that conditions at the dump generally complied with requirements of the county's landfill ordinance with a few minor exceptions. As soon as these are resolved, a permit for landfill operation will be issued to the Chouteau Island, Inc., a St. Louis corporation operating the landfill. Clifford told newsmen after the inspection that no natural drainage channels had been found in the area and that there was no indication the landfill would interfere with drainage.

Name Other Officers

Other officers of the newly formed organization included James Morgan, vice-president; Mrs. Bonita Peterson, secretary subject to her acceptance of the office; Edwin L. Wagner, treasurer.

The association will meet regularly, but meeting dates will not be established until by-laws are approved.

Segar said that once legal points involved in the landfill controversy are established in court, they also will apply to a proposed new landfill which plans to operate on property leased from the city of Madison. Chouteau Island residents also have opposed issuance of a permit for the new landfill.

In Memoriam 33

In loving memory of WENSEL L. BROWN, Aug. 31, 1906.

Today recalls sad memories, Of a loved one gone to rest.

Those who think of you today, Are the ones who love you best.

What we would give to see you smile,

To sit with us and talk a while, The blow was sudden, the shock severe,

To part with one we loved so dear.

We often sit and think of you, Things you used to say and do.

We wonder why you had to die, Without a chance to say good-bye.

Sadly missed by—

WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN. 33-8-31

In loving memory of KATHERINE LELIK, died Aug. 31st, 1967.

Not a day do we forget you, In our hearts you're always near.

We who loved you dearly, miss you.

At the end of three long years, Sadly missed by—

HER FAMILY. 33-8-31

In memory of today of MR. WENSEL L. BROWN.

50 Area Ministers Study Economics at Workshop

More than 50 ministers in the Madison-St. Clair counties area attended an economic education workshop from Sunday through noon today at the Pere Marquette State Park lodge sponsored by the national Clergy Economic Education Foundation in cooperation with Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus.

It was the first southern Illinois clergy economic education conference at which ministers covered various fields of economics in day and night sessions. Representatives of industry, labor and agriculture participated, including many from the local Quad-Cities area.

The object of the conference was to provide economic education to the clergy. Considered leaders in the community, conference leaders noted that ministers assist in making civic economic decisions and must counsel their congregations on economic matters, yet are generally not well trained in economics during their seminary preparations.

Debate is Highlight

A highlight of the conference was a debate Tuesday on the strides of the American economy since 1929.

Prof. Benjamin A. Rogge of Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., maintained that a continued rise in production "is the primary reason for our affluent society today," while John Hicks, executive assistant to the president of Purdue University, argued that it was a combination of progressive output and redistribution of wealth that has "fettered the wheels of the majority."

Rogge stated that the open market system creates natural forces that upgrade economic conditions. He said that government interference with this "basic economic law" tends to inhibit the normal development of the financial world.

Clergy Welfare Programs

Hicks, on the other hand, cited welfare programs and government work projects as "necessary manipulations" for transferring the wealth to poorer classes and thereby upgrading the standards of society.

Rogge cited law and order, private property and minimum government intervention as the ingredients for a stable economic order.

"Turn loose the creative talents of people," he declared, "and you'll see striking improvements at all economic levels."

Hicks countered with an explanation indicating that certain groups coming under the economic bracket can never overcome certain social barriers that prevent them from achieving greater wealth.

Unable to Contribute

He cited non-whites, persons less than eight years of schooling, female heads of families and persons over 65 as good examples of those who are virtually unable to contribute substantially to the economy.

"Thus," he said, "our moral conscience impels us to compensate for this inadequacy, which is beyond the control of its victims."

He said hard-core unemployment may never be resolved because of this social deficiency.

He stated there is a vast waste of talent among these groups and noted that the gross national product would be much higher if these talents were used.

Disrupt Competition

Rogge, who does not recognize monopolies in the context of free-wheeling enterprise, doubted Hicks' assertion. He maintained, instead, that minimum wage laws, unions and price control regulations disturb natural competitiveness, and dampen the spirit for greater output.

Other topics ranged from "Economic Values in a Judeo-Christian Society" by Rev. William Hogan, S.J., director of research, Fordham University, to "Labor and Management and their Stake in the American Economy" by P. J. Dallas Jones, industrial relations, University of Michigan.

E. A. Karandjoff, president of the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, participated with a discussion on "Banking" Tuesday evening.

Clergy Attending

Area clergymen participating were Rev. Phillip H. Burke Jr., Good Shepherd Evangelical United Brethren Church; Rev. L. C. Calmes, Friendship Baptist Church; Rev. James H. Eldridge, Central Free Methodist Church; Rev. L. J. Mattingly, St. Elizabeth Catholic Church; Rev. E. Leo Perkins, Grace Land General Baptist Church; Dr. Raymond E. Troyer, Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints; Rev. David Maxton, First United Presbyterian Church; and Rev. E. Stanley Howitt, True Light Baptist Church.

Labor representatives attending from the area were Robert Munty Services; Donald Parente, recording secretary, Central Trades & Labor Council; James Arnett, United Steelworkers of America; and Helen Peters and Melba Walker, Cooks & Waitresses Local 48.

Representing agriculture from the area was Howard Kaseberg.

Business and industry representatives participating were William Holescher, Manufacturers Association of the Tri-Cities; A. A. Schwegler, vice-president, industrial relations, John Walker and James Goodwin, Laclede Steel Co.; Russell Crecelius, manager, industrial relations, Roy Devasth, or Paul Keithley, General Steel Industries; John R. Hundley, vice-president, industrial relations, Miss Lillian Green and Ronald Maes, Granite City Steel Co.; A. P. Steinhilber, works manager, Charles G. Varley and W. P. Donovan, American Steel Foundries.

31 C. of C. Members Tour Farms in Madison County

Four successful farming operations in Madison county were inspected Tuesday by 31 members of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce during the third annual farm tour, arranged by the C. of C.'s Agriculture Committee.

Chamber members had as their guests, 12 youths from the Sunrise 4-H Club, who were accompanied by club advisers, Melbourn Bager and Dale Schanuel. The two groups also joined forces for a noon luncheon at the Diamond Mineral Springs restaurant, located north of Highland.

Diversified operations and farm holdings were viewed by the local visitors who began the tour at the 560-acre farm of Earl V. Gansmann, near St. Jacob.

The latter explained he feeds 100 head of beef steers and heifers and 1200 hogs annually, plus buying 100 head of feeder pigs each month to finish in the four-pen finishing unit. Additionally, Gansmann said, he handles 1000 acres of custom work each year by field-shelling corn and combining soybeans.

The farm's major crops are corn and soybeans, with some wheat. Corn silage is stored in silo and unloaded by hand, he said. Visitors were told that Gansmann keeps farm management records and has a relatively low investment in building and equipment compared to the volume of sales.

Modern, automated feed storage and handling systems were viewed at the 240-acre farm owned and operated by Richard E. Ellis Jr. and his son, Richard Jr. Major crops are corn, milo, alfalfa and certified wheat seed production.

All crops grown on the farm, except wheat, are fed to beef cattle. The Ellis' buy feeder cattle and feed out 700 head of beef annually, Chamber members learned.

Fifty milk cows plus young stock (calves and heifers) are the major enterprise on the 215-acre farm owned by Ray Winter. Visitors displayed interest in a walk-through, four-cow milking parlor, constructed new this year by the farmer. Equipment includes a bulk milk tank, milk pipeline and harvestor.

Principal crops are 40 acres of alfalfa, plus corn, soybeans, wheat, sudax and pasture land. Winter explained that he uses the "Weigh-a-day-a-month" (WADAM) record keeping system.

The largest holding visited Tuesday is owned and rented in part by Charles C. Gene, and Fred Losch whose major industry of vegetable farming is conducted on 1500 acres. The family-type operation requires additional hired help on a part-time basis, the owners said, and crops include muskmelons, watermelons, sweet corn, cantal oupes, onions, pumpkins, squash and tomatoes.

The farm operators use an extensive irrigation system and expanded their onion enterprise from 600 sets in 1960 to 65,000 sets this year. Soybean and wheat crops also are grown on the Losch farm.

As a fitting climax to the agriculture tour, Chamber members and their guests enjoyed a watermelon feast at the Losch farm. 4-H members taking the trip,

Commission Formed To Administer Park

Meeting Tuesday evening, the Young Builders of Eagle Park Acres reviewed a successful three-day celebration marking the first anniversary of the five-acre park in their area, and made plans for site improvements. A financial contribution has been made by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Steele, donors of the land.

The celebration on Aug. 25, 26 and 27 attracted large crowds, particularly in the younger age group, it was reported by Herman Smith, registered agent of the Eagle Park Acres Improvement Association. Mrs. Steele was a guest at the festival.

Smith said the park will be administered by a commission selected by the Young Builders from their 56 members.

Those chosen Tuesday night were Sammy Wooten, president; Patricia Alford, secretary; Frances Gardner, assistant secretary; Ambrella Wooten, Edith Hoult and Gloria Gardner, who will serve along with Smith as financial officers; and Robert Branch, Diane Salmond and Estella Jennings, directors.

The group voted to designate the park as the Steele Viaduct Division Park.

Proceeds from the weekend celebration at the site are being turned over to the commission to help finance park improvements.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS at Eagle Park Acres will be financed by this check from the W. J. Steele family, donors of the park land. It is being presented by Herman Smith, registered agent of the Eagle Park Acres Improvement Association, to members of the Young Builders group. Pictured (left to right) are Patricia Alford, Frances Gardner (partly hidden), Janet Gardner, Charlesetta Dumas, Lionell Wiley, Belva Blakley and Smith.

Applications will be received now through Sept. 22. Katherine Quinci, nursing education coordinator, announced today. She also stated that personal interviews of applicants will be held from Sept. 25 through Oct. 6, and classes will begin Oct. 16.

The Institution Worker Program for Psychiatric Aides is a 20-week preparatory program for individuals who will be directly involved in patient care. ## Manufacturers and Illinois Clean Air Officials to Meet

More than 400 Illinois manufacturers will meet with state air pollution control officials and control equipment experts on Thursday, Sept. 14, in Chicago to discuss compliance with recently published state regulations to reduce air pollution.

The occasion will be an all-day workshop sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association at the Pick-Congress hotel in Chicago.

Officials of the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board and the Illinois Department of Public Health will speak at the conference to explain recent regulations and their plans regarding enforcement.

Top U.S. experts in air pollution control equipment will attend to educate manufacturers in air pollution control, according to E. Edgerton Hart, executive vice-president of IMA.

Manufacturers who are violating emission limits will thus be able to plan more intelligently for compliance with state regulations, Hart said.

Clarence W. Klassen, technical secretary of the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board, and Robert R. French, chief of the bureau of air pollution control for the Illinois Department of Public Health, will discuss state control board policies and procedures in enforcing regulations and emission limits.

Senator Arthur R. Gotschalk (R., Bloomington) will explain the proposed program by which the state would give tax relief to manufacturers required to install expensive pollution control equipment.

Top experts from American industry in the air pollution control field, representing the Industrial Gas Cleaning Institute and the Incinerator Institute of America, also will be among the speakers. They include: William G. Henke of Research-Cottrell, Inc.; William E. Barkovitz of American Standard; David E. Bonn of American Air Filter Co., Inc.; Frank R. Culhane of Wheelabrator Corporation; Leslie G. Hardison of Universal Oil Products Co. and Richard Guder of Joseph Guder Incinerator Co.

Representing IMA on the program besides Hart will be Jules E. Brunner of The Gidden Co., chairman of the IMA clean air and water committee, J. Orville V. Bergen, secretary of the association.

"The state air pollution control board has approved regulations, including emission limits for smoke and dust, and every manufacturer in the state, except those located in the city of Chicago, must file a letter of intent," Hart said.

"The next step in the enforcement procedure," he continued, "is for violators of the emission limits to submit by April 15, 1968, a detailed air contaminant emission reduction program to the state board. This program, if approved by the state, will constitute a waiver for the violator as long as the program is being followed."

Hart said IMA's workshop is designed to aid plant managers and plant engineers in planning intelligently for compliance with state regulations and to gain a better understanding of today's air pollution control equipment and technology, along with the economics of investment in such facilities.

Stop Signs to Go Up on 25th At Grand; No-Parking Zones

Ordinances placing stop signs on 25th street at Grand avenue and establishing a no-parking zone on 15th street at Grand avenue were approved Monday night by Granite City council members.

The no-parking zones are on both sides of 15th street from Mrs. Stobol's Buick Shop, to the intersection of the alley. Referred to the aldermen of the Third Ward was a request from Illinois Power Co. for studies of parking conditions at its offices and warehouse at 22nd and Adams streets.

Carl E. Mathias, area service manager, pointed out hazardous conditions at both the Adams street and 22nd street intersections caused by vehicles parked near by. He asked for the study to determine if no parking zones could be created on either side of the driveways.

Alderman Noon was critical of the power company. "I learned the company paid only half its tax bill here, and the other half at Edwardsville. The city loses its 2½ collection commission on the payment at Edwardsville," he noted.

Lights in Alley, Easements
Nonn requested the city take over payment of the power bill for a vandal light in an alley at 2506 West 20th street that was installed by an individual. He pointed out the city now is installing lights in alleys.

Alderman Daves said numerous requests are being received in the Eighth Ward for street lights in easements, but he has been unable to get any. "We have as many prowlers as in any other ward and something should be done."

Alderman Basarich, chairman of the Light committee, said he has discussed the problem with officials of Illinois Power Co. and was advised it is against company policy to place lights in easements. He was asked to make another request.

Suspension of Milk
Price Change Extended

The supply-demand adjustment to fluid milk prices, made quarterly by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been suspended for the September through November period in an order covering parts of Illinois and Missouri.

USDA's consumer and marketing service officials said the action continues a suspension placed in effect for the June-July-August period. The suspension will apply in the Ozarks, Southern Illinois and Paducah Federal order markets which use the same supply adjustment as the St. Louis area. The suspensions were requested by dairy farmers in the Ozarks, St. Louis and southern Illinois pending amendment of the supply-demand adjustment on the basis of public hearings held earlier this year.

WATCH OUT FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN is the message that these and other Quad-Cityans hope to convey to all motorists. Posters urging careful driving are being placed on plant bulletin boards and posted in school traffic zones in conjunction with the start of classes at local school this week. Pictured with Granite City Police Officer Richard Bell are four who aided in the poster distribution, (left to right) Bill Mih, Tim Bennett, Kevin Menke and David Raub, members of Boy Scout Troop Eight of the First United Presbyterian Church. Cooperating groups include the Quad-City Safety Council and Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

Social Security Checks To Arrive on Saturday

Social Security beneficiaries who normally find their monthly checks in their mailboxes on the third day of the month no longer will have to wait until the next day when the third falls on a national holiday or a Sunday.

Ralph Brasher, district manager of the Social Security office in East St. Louis, said today that starting with the Labor Day weekend, Social Security checks will be delivered on the previous mail-service day whenever the third falls on a Sunday or a holiday.

"Most beneficiaries," he said, "will receive their Social Security checks on Saturday instead of next Tuesday, as would have been the case under the old procedure."

Social Security checks normally are released on the third of the month under agreement to stagger the receipt of monthly checks going out from various federal agencies so that post offices and sectional centers and local banks will not be overburdened at any one time of the month.

Explaining the reason for the change, Brasher said, "Since these monthly checks are the main source of income for many beneficiaries, even a few days delay could be serious, and this new procedure will eliminate any possible delay."

The new procedure will be used for the second time in December when the third again falls on a Sunday.

Post Office Jobs Open to Residents Outside District

Donald L. Swanson, regional director of the Post Office Department, announced today that effective Sept. 1 the Chicago Board of United States Civil Service Examiners is accepting applications to fill substitute clerk or substitute carrier positions in all first or second-class post offices and sectional centers located in Illinois.

Swanson said a written test is required. Eligibility on this one examination could qualify a person for employment consideration at any first or second-class post office or sectional center throughout the state.

He also said persons already on Illinois post office clerical carrier registers may now extend their eligibility to additional Illinois post office registers or re-examine in this examination for the purpose of improving their score. Eligibles will be certified to the office for which they indicate a willingness to accept employment, in the order of their score, regardless of their residence.

The starting salary is $2.64 per hour, with regular increases to $3.60 an hour. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age, but there is no maximum age limit.

The minimum age limit is waived for high school graduates who must be at least 16 years of age, however, and those under 18 cannot be considered qualified for carrier positions in which motor vehicle operation is required.

The jobs being filled from this examination are mostly full-time positions and of career nature, offering job security, on-the-job training, low-cost health and life insurance, sick leave with pay, 13 to 26 days of paid vacation depending on length of federal service, cash for suggestions and a liberalized retirement program. For example, an employee with a five-year average salary of $2,787 and 30 years of service earns an annuity of $4,087 a year.

A copy of the announcement, No. CH-763 (7), which gives full particulars may be secured at any post office located within Illinois or from the Board of United States Civil Service Examiners, Room 330, Main Post Office Building, Chicago, Ill. 60607.

Farm Work Limited For Children Under 16

Farm employers were reminded today by the U. S. Department of Labor that school children under 16, when young is in season, may work only outside school hours as the new school year starts. The reminder is in accordance with the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Regional Director Earl F. Halverson of the Wage and Hour Division of the Labor Department, said, "A youngster's future success depends on the education he obtains today." He added that the law helps the migrant youngster as well as the local child and urged the public's cooperation in encouraging young people to return and stay in school.

The need for continued vigilance reflected by the Department's findings that children who work on farms during school hours in violation of the law are the ones who really suffer the most.

In emphasizing the situation, Halverson pointed out that almost half of the young farm workers in grades well below the norm for their ages and cited the example that at the age of 15 almost seven out of ten of the local youth and nine out of ten of the migrants were behind in school grade attainment.

"One cannot remove some of the obstacles of poverty without attaining a modicum of education," Halverson said. "The minimum should be at least a high school diploma—without it many of today's opportunities will be closed to our young people," he continued.

Halverson also noted that when state and federal child-labor standards differ, the higher standards apply. "The regional office of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions at 219 South Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill. 60604, is ready to assist anyone seeking information about the Fair Labor Standards Act," he added. An office is located at Room 716, Myers Building, 101 South Fifth street, Springfield, Ill. 62701.

Medical Self-Helpers

Nearly two million people were trained last year to take care of the injured and sick in a disaster when there is no doctor, according to statistics just released on the Public Health Service's Self-Help Training Program.

Certificates were awarded to 1,894,193 graduates of 51,875 medical self-help classes, nearly one-third of the total number trained in the five-year-old program.

The goal of the training program, developed by the Office of Civil Defense and by the Public Health Service, is to train at least one member of every American family to meet his own and his neighbor's health needs in an emergency when no physician is available.

To date 4,773,844 people have been trained in medical self-help at a cost to the government of approximately five cents per student hour.

Carl Sandburg Resolution

Tribute was paid to the late Carl Sandburg and his role in Illinois history in a resolution passed by the board of directors of the Illinois State Historical Society, William A. Alderfer, executive director of the organization, said.

The resolution states: "The Board of Directors and officers of the Illinois Historical Society record by this resolution their deep appreciation of the many abiding services to Illinois history performed by the Prairie State's distinguished native son, Carl Sandburg, and extend to Mrs. Sandburg and the Sandburg daughters sincere sympathy in their loss and herewith express a statewide price in the Illinois partnership that has made the names of Abraham Lincoln and Carl Sandburg synonymous in the biographical annals of the United States."

Sandburg was the principal speaker at the Historical Society's golden anniversary meeting at New Salem State Park in 1949. He was the subject of a special edition of the Society's quarterly magazine in 1952.

Civil Defense Conference

Donovan M. Vance, director of the Illinois Civil Defense Agency, announced a scheduled Civil Defense Conference and Seminar for area leaders in business, industry and government. The conference will be at 9:45 a.m. Friday, Sept. 15, at the Peasants Run Lodge in Saint Charles.

This is one of a series of 10 conferences being conducted throughout the state by the University of Illinois Extension Service in cooperation with the Illinois Civil Defense Agency. Their purpose is to acquaint business, industry and government leaders with civil defense responsibilities and to achieve a close cooperation and coordination between them.

May Condemn to Get Wabash Ave. R-O-W

Condemnation proceedings were authorized Monday night by Granite City council members to acquire a 33,600-foot tract along Wabash avenue at Johnson road to open Wabash avenue as a parkway boulevard between Johnson and Ponton roads.

Alderman Ford Johnson, chairman of the Street committee, called for the court action, pointing out that negotiations with property owners had not brought a suitable price. Mayor Partney asked that the negotiated price not be disclosed.

The city presently has a 10-year option on the tract to acquire it for roadway purposes. The strip of ground between Johnson and Ponton roads was a right-of-way for the Wabash Railroad but was not developed for railroad purposes.

E. 25th St. Feared Johnson said the Street committee by Alderman Dallas was a petition signed by residents along east 25th street between Johnson road and the Anchorage calling for repairs to the street.

Alderman Johnson said the street improvement project had been included in the 1967-68 budget but was one of the items vetoed by the mayor. "I've been there and have seen the street and know it needs improvement, but it is too much of a job for the street department to handle. We'll continue to see that it's repaired."

Dallas pointed out that the first step in the improvement of the street was carried out last year when curbs and gutters were installed. "The street roadway is six inches above the sidewalks, and vehicles are throwing dirt and debris onto the sidewalks. Surely the city can find some way to complete this job. The condition is deplorable."

Not Equipped For Job

Johnson said the improvement was budgeted at $7500 and that he felt the city could afford to do the job. He was critical of the mayor's veto, pointing out it was a job the street department was unequipped to handle. "It would take all of the men on the department three or four weeks to do it," he added.

The chairman called upon Street Supt. Warfield for remarks after a motion that the street department not be required to carry out the major improvements. His motion was approved by a 14-4 vote.

Warfield told council members that he did not have the necessary equipment to build the street and vehicles were throwing dirt and debris onto the sidewalks. "The mayor used his power of veto and took authority away from the council. The blame for this street's condition should go where it belongs."

Thought Was Settled Mayor Partney replied that he would not carry his veto but that he thought an arrangement had been settled with the street department to make improvements to the street.

"I know the improvement is needed," the mayor said, "but we don't have the money. We spent all the that money from the general fund last year for street work when we should have waited for motor fuel tax funds. Now there will not be enough left this year to do any such work."

The mayor's statements were immediately challenged by Robertson, who said he was certain money is available or would be available during the current fiscal year.

"Show me where it is," the mayor stated.

Robertson said the city's financial report at the end of the current year would verify his contention. "I think this was a useless veto and that the money is here."

Warfield's Comments

Johnson again called upon Street Supt. Warfield, who told the council, "The mayor told me he thought this matter had been settled with the street department. I won't do this major work unless it is approved by my committee and by the council."

Alderman Johnson added that the only work the committee would authorize would be repairs and maintenance. "The street department can't do the job that was budgeted at $7500."

In other action, the council authorized detailed plans be made for a drainage line between Olive and Chestnut streets south of Niedringhaus avenue to return home in two weeks.

Mrs. Rowden Hospitalized

Mrs. Vivian Rowden, 2905 Madison avenue, underwent surgery at St. Mary's Hospital in Clayton, Mo., today. She hopes to return home in two weeks.

GC Council Meetings Next Month Due for Changes

Shifting of meeting dates for the Granite City council to cope with next week's Labor Day holiday on a Monday and with the Illinois Municipal League convention in Springfield on Sept. 25—also a Monday—were proposed at Monday night's session.

There was no difficulty in changing the Labor Day meeting to Tuesday, Sept. 5, in accordance with the ordinance which calls for a meeting that falls on a holiday to be held the next evening.

Alderman Boyd's suggestion for the council to redesignate the Monday, Sept. 25 meeting for Friday, Sept. 22, brought out questions.

"In past years, council members who have been attending the IML convention which is to be held Sept. 23-26."

Lawn Weed Control
Early fall is an ideal time to settle a grudge with dandelions in your lawn.

Dandelions are one perennial which thrives during cool weather. Even rough-tough competition from bluegrass doesn't discourage this lawn pest. But one application of 2,4-D will wipe out the big established plants as well as the new seedlings.

Many gardeners find 2,4-D a problem chemical because of wind drift to nearby flowers, vegetables and grapes. Combination fertilizer and weed killers are one way to avoid injury to nearby plants. Another way to apply the chemical is with a wax weed bar. (Rub the chemical on the leaves as you drag the bar over the grass.) The most inexpensive is a spray application using the amine (low volatile) form of 2,4-D on a quiet day. An early fall application allows the bluegrass to take over the resulting bare spots before cool weather.

Garden Roses
This flower garden favorite, roses, can be a headache when black spot disease destroys the leaves and ruins the plants. Black blotches on the leaves, yellowing and leaf drop are typical of this disease. By fall the plants may look like poles with hardly any leaves.

When Mr. C. E. Eads, rose grower and enthusiast in Granite City talks about fall management of garden roses, he emphasizes disease control and early fall growth for best results.

He reports Phalton is a top-notch fungicide for black spot control, but recommends using 1/2 the manufacturers rate. Full strength Phalton causes leaf injury to some varieties, sometimes causing more leaf drop than the disease. He feels the garden hose attached sprayer is very convenient and just as effective as other sprayers he uses.

Some rose growers dust or spray immediately after rains, but equally good control is possible from a weekly spraying. The black spot fungus spreads by splashing during rains. Phalton, as well as other recommended fungicides, like maneb, zineb and sulfur and copper combinations, cannot be easily washed off leaves, once the spray dries. During rains, when the fungus is spreading, the fungicide is already on the leaf ready to provide fungus control.

Mr. Eads also suggested picking off leaves as soon as a spot appears. He was sure prompt removal of infected leaves and strict cleanup of fallen leaves helped control the disease.

Pruning was another point Mr. Eads mentioned. He said a new shoot required 20-40 days to produce a flower. Severe pruning would delay development of these new shoots and delay flowering. Normal pruning, adequate water and weekly spraying are his recommendations for best performance of garden roses.

Picking Ripe Watermelons
Selecting ripe watermelons in a melon patch is the job for an expert, says Chris Doll, Area Horticulturist, Edwardsville.

To the amateur, this task often results in ruined green melons. Doll says there is no sure way of telling when a watermelon is ready for harvest. Plugging is one method, but ruins the melon if it is not ripe. Another method is to dry the tendril or curl accompanying the melon, and the change of color from a pale white to a creamy yellow of the part of the melon resting on the ground. These signs vary with the variety and are not always true.

Thumping the melon is another method. If the sound has a metallic ring, the melon is immature. When the sound is muffled or dead, the melon is probably mature. Doll again cautions, there is a difference between varieties.

Council Supports Park Board's Bid For Federal Funds

Granite City council members voted unanimously Monday night of the park district's attempt to seek federal funds for half the $33,000 purchase price for an 11.16-acre tract at the old Beckman farm to be developed as a park and playground.

A resolution urging the housing and Urban Development agency to allocate federal funds for the park under the Open Space Land program was approved at this week's council session and is to be forwarded to the HUD offices in Chicago.

The 11.16-acre tract is off Rock road and to the north of the new West Granite fire station. Planned for the area are walkways, trees, flowerbeds, playground equipment and playing fields.

Barry Loman, park board president, told the Press-Record that the park district has been unable to get federal funds for the land acquisition during the past year, but it is hopeful a grant of $16,500 will be made available during the current federal year.

"We've been keeping the weeds cut on the tract at present, and plans are for low places to be filled and a baseball diamond with a backstop and suitable playing field to be ready by next Spring," Loman said.

At one of several discussion sessions, problems of the disadvantaged will be examined by experts from the welfare field.

Mother's are busy these days. For school beginning is a big event. Health records must be checked to make certain vaccinations are still potent and if not, booster shots are a must.

Children leaving home for college should visit the family physician for a health check up. Essential medicines the doctor thinks necessary must be packed. And, the eating habits of all children at school may have to be adjusted. Too the important vitamins needed for their growing bodies. Most physicians advise daily vitamins for school children.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Psychological Aspects Of Sex Education

Second of two articles on
Mate Selection
Sex education should emphasize the sociological and psychological aspects of sex as well as the biological facts, a Southern Illinois University family life specialist believes.
George Carpenter, associate professor in the home and family department at the Carbondale campus, fears that most high school courses in sex education are geared too much toward the hygienic "facts of life" and not enough to teaching teenagers the fundamentals of (a) personality assessment and (b) the difference between physical attraction and love.
"We can't realistically expect 17 to 20 year olds to postpone marriage until the 30's when they have learned to measure other people," he said. "They are biologically ready for marriage but are not equipped with personality insight. So we need some way to try to teach them selectivity."
"They start dating someone without any intention of getting married. They just want to have fun. Then, because of a need for companionship, they become emotionally involved and confuse sex attraction for love. Marriage creeps up—or is forced on them—often without any real basis for compatibility."
Selecting a mate is each person's "most important decision in life," he said, and it should be achieved only after making every effort for each partner to know the other's full personality, ideals and standards.

SIXTH MAJOR BUILDING at Southern Illinois University-Western campus begins to take shape on the campus circle drive. The three-story, $3,500,000 structure will house key administrative, student services and business offices that presently are located in former residences on the 2700-acre campus.

Water Co. offers Eight Scholarships

American Water Works Foundation scholarships will be offered again this year, it was announced here today by J. G. Cams Jr., manager of East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. The scholarship program, in effect since 1961, is supported by American Water Works System companies serving more than 4,000,000 residents of 500 community areas in 19 states, including the local water utility.

The scholarship competition is open to high school seniors whose place of residence is served by East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. and to dependent children of water company employees. At least eight scholarships are awarded each year. The awards range from $250 to $1000 a year, depending on the financial need of the student.

Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J., supervises the program. Winners are selected by an independent scholarship committee of educators from the field of higher education. Details and application blanks are available at high schools in the area.

GC Students Open 181-Day Stretch In the Classrooms

Students in the Granite City school system began a 181-day stand of days in the classrooms yesterday, a march to culminate next May 31.

To soften the blow (to some students), quick relief is in the offing as the Labor Day holiday will provide a day off on Monday for a three-day weekend.

Another long weekend will come in October as the school district observes Oct. 12, Columbus Day, as a holiday for the first time as provided by the last Illinois General Assembly. The day falls on a Thursday, and classes will be dismissed the following day for teachers' institutes.

School again will be dismissed on Oct. 27 for the four-county teachers institute. The Thanksgiving weekend will begin on Nov. 23 for another four-day weekend, and the Christmas holidays will begin at the close of school on Dec. 22. They will continue until Jan. 2 when school reopens.

The first semester will end on Jan. 19 and the second will begin on Jan. 22. Other days off will be Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday; March 29, the Madison county institute; April 12, Good Friday; May 29, records day; and May 30, Memorial Day.

Grade periods will end on Nov. 3, Jan. 19, March 22 and May 31. Report cards will go out on Nov. 7, Jan. 19 for junior and senior high school students, Jan. 23 for elementary school students, March 26 and May 31.

James Stuart Enrolled At Westminster College

James B. Stuart, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart, 2265 Cleveland blvd., will begin classes on Sept. 14 at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.

The 116-year-old liberal arts college for men will have its largest enrollment. Three new buildings will be ready for occupancy: a million-dollar science center, dormitory for independent (non-fraternity) students, and a student center with restaurant. The Winston Churchill Memorial, being constructed here, will be in the final stages of completion. Chapel services for students will probably be held in the 300-year-old London church, focal point of the Memorial, before the school year is over.

New Holiday This Year

Long School Year Opens In Madison and Venice

Monday was the first of 182 school days for students in the Madison and Venice school districts during the 1967-68 school year.

The school calendars, listing May 24 as the last day of school, are sprinkled with holidays, with the first coming on Monday, Labor Day.

Students may look forward to a new holiday, Columbus Day, Oct. 12, as declared by the last session of the Illinois General Assembly.

Falling on a Thursday, it will provide a long weekend, as school will be dismissed the following day because of teachers' meetings. To make up for it, Christmas holidays will be shortened by one day to maintain the required number of school days.

The first six weeks period will end Oct. 13 when report cards will be distributed. Classes again will be dismissed on Oct. 27, the date for the Madison county teachers institute.

The Thanksgiving holidays will be on Nov. 23-24 and students will be off for another four days in a row. The second six weeks period will end Dec. 1.

The last day of school before Christmas (a Monday) will be Dec. 22 (a Friday); the first day of school after Christmas will be Dec. 26, the last day of school before New Year's day will be Dec. 29; and the first day of school after New Year's Day will be Jan. 2.

Jan. 19 will be the end of the third six weeks period and the end of the first semester.

School will be dismissed for Lincoln's birthday on Feb. 12, a Monday, and March 1 will be the end of the fourth six weeks period.

Classes will be dismissed again on March 29 for the second Madison county teachers institute, and the fifth six weeks period will end April 10.

The first day of the Easter holiday will be April 11, Thursday, and the first day of school after the Easter holiday will be April 16, a Tuesday.

The end of the second six weeks period and the end of the second semester will be May 24.

Slow Down in School Zones, Official Urges

With schools now in session, officials of the Quad-City Safety Council are urging local motorists to redouble defensive driving practices.

Raymond Christman, president of the local Safety Council, said drivers should be especially careful in watching for youngsters crossing in the middle of a block.

"The child, dashing into the street from behind a parked car in front of a moving vehicle presents one of the most difficult accidents to avoid," Christman noted.

"Defensive drivers will expect the unexpected from small fry and slow down when they are present. In fact, Illinois law requires motorists to drive only 20 mph through school zones when signs are posted on school days and children are present," Christman said.

"The careful driver will treat all children on the street or highway with caution. No member, there is no substitute for being alert with constant attention to your driving at all times and especially where children are concerned.

"Children crossing or entering a roadway not at an intersection is the most dangerous practice that drivers must be alert for. Many children will be attending school for the first time and cannot be expected to obey the safety rules at all times," the Safety Council official stressed.

Legislature Will Meet Sept. 11 to Take Veto Action

The Illinois Legislature will reconvene in Springfield Sept. 11 primarily for the purpose of acting upon legislative vetoes invoked by Gov. Otto Kerner on bills passed by the General Assembly earlier this year.

House Speaker Ralph T. Smith (R) Alton, said Tuesday.

In a letter to Republican members of the House, Rep. Smith said he hoped that the governor will have completed the signing of all bills which are still pending, including many bills creating legislative commissions.

"In connection with the commissions, we very much hope that members can be appointed at this time (during the adjourned session) and organization meetings can be held while the session is sitting so they can start working on their appointed tasks."

Smith said it would be the position of the leadership of both Houses that any bills which may have been left technically alive when the houses adjourned on June 30 should be tabled.

He also pointed out, "we should oppose the introduction of any bills... our reason is that if the door is opened for the introduction of bills, there is no way I know they could be processed through committees and acted upon by each body in any final form unless we let the session stretch out for at least a couple months."

Smith asked the members to advise his office if they have any interest in trying to override any specific veto.

Percy Introduces Bill For Vets' Education

Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) today introduced a bill to help the veteran who returns to college and discovers he has to take refresher courses.

The bill would permit the veteran to take a minimum number of refresher courses at no loss to his educational entitlement under the GI Bill.

"It is a day when college curricula include such courses as space science, econometrics and differential equations, it is almost impossible for the veteran to resume his education at the point he left off a couple years earlier," Percy said in remarks on the Senate floor.

Percy said his bill would correct a deficiency in the present GI Bill program. He said President Johnson in his veterans message Jan. 31 pointed out that the GI Bill makes no special provision for the returning serviceman who needs to finish his school or take a refresher course.

About 355,000 veterans are taking training under the GI Bill now, but the number may swell to 500,000 with the influx of the Vietnam veterans.

He said it was estimated 10,000 of these young people would need to take refresher courses. The total cost of the refresher program would range from about $3.3 million to $4.6 million per year. This is only $300 to $400 per veteran requiring refresher courses.

New Checking System Effective Sept. 1

A new nation-wide checking system under which bank patrons will be limited to use of individual pre-coded checks will be put into effect in this area by Quad-City banks on Sept. 1.

Bank officials throughout the area have been conducting an educational campaign for several months in attempts to acquaint users of checking accounts with the new Federal Reserve bank regulations.

The system provides for posting of all checks on the basis of coded numbers in the lower left-hand corner of the check. The code number designates the bank on which the check is drawn, the individual's account number and the Federal Reserve district code number.

The code numbers are imprinted on the check in magnetic ink which will permit them to be read by computer. While many banks already have abolished the use of counter checks in recent years, the new system will prohibit such a system in the future. It also will eliminate the practice of borrowing checks from another individual, and the marking out of a bank's name to substitute another.

IP SERVING BUSINESS

Natural gas incinerators save money... increase cleanliness and we're happy to prove it!

Intensive studies in stores, office buildings, plants and restaurants prove the economies of daily gas incineration.

Here's a typical example of cash saved with a natural gas incinerator:

A restaurant spent $160 a month having about 1,000 pounds of refuse hauled daily. A gas incinerator, including all costs, resulted in monthly savings of $46 or a total of $552 a year. At this rate the incinerator quickly paid for itself.

A gas fired incinerator might save you a little less. Or it could save you more. The economies to be gained vary greatly, depending on your business. Lower fire insurance rates are a distinct possibility. And you'll eliminate the fixed cost of double refuse handling.

Money saved isn't everything. Your customers and staff will appreciate the cleanliness of natural gas incineration. Rodents, insects, foul odors and unsightly trash piles will be eliminated daily. You'll gain space formerly used for trash storage.

Yes, a variety of businesses can benefit from natural gas incineration. And we'll be glad to prove it without obligation. Call us.

Carpenters Plan Open House at New Building

The Madison County Carpenters District Council will hold an open house at its new headquarters building at 901 West Chain of Rocks road from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 23, Eugene Ellberg, council secretary-treasurer, announced.

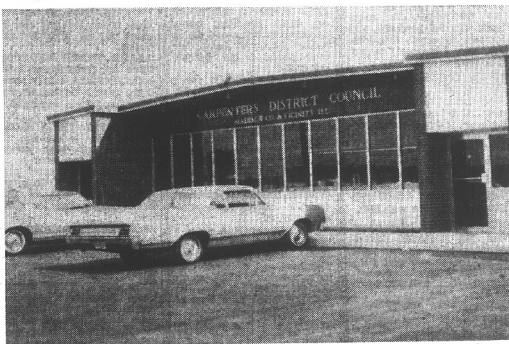

The building consolidated the operations of Granite City Local 633, Edwardsville Local 378 and Alton Local 577. The building is now in use.

Eight local unions form the council and are from Madison, Bond, Jersey, Macoupin, Green and Calhoun counties. Other local units include 1808 of Wood River, 285 of Collinsville, 990 of Greenville, 1235 of Highland and 1267 of Worden. Total membership is more than 1400.

The 115x54-foot building is on a 45x100-foot lot which allows ample parking. It includes offices for four business representatives and three secretaries, administrative offices and a large meeting room. The total cost of about $150,000 is being financed and said by union members.

The building is the headquarters for all carpentry, millwright, roofing, pile driving, flooring and ceiling work.

Ask Injunction in Contract Dispute At A. O. Smith

Boilermakers Local 575 filed suit Tuesday in the Madison county circuit court to require the A. O. Smith Corp. to comply with provisions of a contract between Local 575 and the firm's auto frame plant in Granite City.

The suit alleged that the company is willfully, continually and intentionally violating the contract in job assignments, transfers, job bidding, replacement of employees and relief of employees during rest periods.

The injunction complaint was filed by Harold Gruenberg of the Gruenberg, Shobel and Souders law firm of St. Louis, Placide Warfield, president of the local, said.

A statement issued by Warfield on behalf of Local 575 alleged that A. O. Smith "representatives have repeatedly stated their intention not to be bound by or give effect to agreements worked out with the union. As a result, the grievance and arbitration procedures of the contract have become useless."

"Local 575 is asking the court to order the company to cease violating the contract and to comply with its terms in the future."

The present three-year contract expires Dec. 31, 1967.

Warfield said a violation last February prompted talks that led to signing of memorandums of understanding in March by both company and union representatives. These memorandums were intended to aid all parties in understanding and interpreting the contract provisions identically, but the memorandums as well as the contract have since been violated, he charged.

Meeting Sought

"On Aug. 9, 1967, the union requested that the company meet and begin bargaining Sept. 1 to try and work out issues before the present contract expires," Warfield told the Press-Record.

"In a letter dated Aug. 28, A. O. Smith Personnel Manager Paul Kelly notified the union that the company is terminating the contract as of Dec. 31, 1967, and said the company is not prepared to begin negotiations as of Sept. 1."

"Kelly offered no dates for the start of negotiations," Warfield added.

Kelly said yesterday that the company has received no notice of the filing of the suit, nor a copy of the complaint.

He said he had no comment until allegations of the petition and charges by Warfield could be studied.

Teachers Meet Two Days to Ready for New School Term

Granite City school teachers met in orientation sessions Monday and Tuesday in preparation for opening of schools throughout the district yesterday, heard addresses by school and civic representatives and took part in a series of 20 sectional meetings on school procedure and topical subjects.

First of the meetings was an orientation session for the school system's 74 new teachers in the high school cafeteria Monday, beginning with breakfast at 8:30 a.m.

Talks welcoming the new teachers to their Granite City school posts were given by School Superintendent B. J. Davis; Monroe Worthen, president of the board of education; Harold Briggs, assistant county superintendent of schools; Mayor Donald Parney; Howard Kaseberg, president of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce; Robert Johnson, president of the Granite City Federation of Teachers, and Gladys Schubert, president of the Granite City Educational Association.

Following the meeting, the new teachers went to the schools in which they have been assigned and met with their principals who outlined school procedure, policies and general teaching practices.

All Teachers Attend

A general meeting for all teachers of the system was held in the high school auditorium Tuesday beginning at 9 a.m.

Supt. Davis delivered the welcoming address and Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, Madison county superintendent of schools, spoke on school legislation and its effect upon school operation. Most of the 629 teachers employed on the faculty this year attended the meeting.

Chief Veizer Pinpoints Causes of Auto Crashes

"Death on the highway is a certainty for certain kinds of drivers, especially in view of higher speeds and careless and reckless attitudes which seem to prevail during the vacation and holiday periods, Granite City Chief of Police, Ronald J. Veizer said today.

"If we are to have a downward trend in traffic fatalities, both drivers and pedestrians will need to apply known safe driving and walking techniques to a greater degree than they have in the past.

"With higher speeds and heavier traffic, especially during holiday periods, we cannot afford to relax our efforts to reduce the tragic loss of life and property on the highways," he said.

Chief Veizer reported that more than half of the drivers in fatal accidents that occurred during holiday periods had been drinking or speeding. He advised motorists who are planning a holiday trip to watch their speed and refrain from mixing alcohol with gasoline.

Chief Veizer gave the following safe driving tips for that Labor Day trip or any trip, short or long:

"Buckle up for safety every time you get in the car. Make sure your car is in good condition by having it checked by a competent mechanic who has the necessary equipment to make needed adjustments and repairs.

BARBARA PYLE

Miss Barbara Pyle To Study at Beirut

Barbara Pyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pyle, 8 Terrace lane, is leaving tomorrow for a five-day orientation program in New York City in preparation for a year of study at the American University of Beirut in Lebanon.

Miss Pyle, a geology major at DePaul University in Greenacres, Ind., will be going to Lebanon's American-run university as a participant in the Junior Year Abroad program arranged by the United Presbyterian Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations. Locally she is a member of the Nazareth United Presbyterian Church. She was graduated from Granite City high school in 1965 and her mother is a nurse in the elementary schools here.

There are 27 schools representing 16 countries cooperating in the Presbyterian program, now in its 14th year of operation. Last year 40 students studying under the program went to universities in Asia, Africa, the Middle-East, Europe and Latin America.

The American University of Beirut, where English is the language of instruction, is one of the outstanding institutions of higher learning in the Arab world. Founded in 1886, the school has an enrollment of approximately 3300, including around 900 students from outside countries. It offers a full liberal arts program, as well as technical and medical courses.

As an informal Christian ambassador there for the program, Miss Pyle, in addition to her studies, will seek a broader understanding of the world Christian mission.

She and 34 other U.S. students will be sailing for Lebanon aboard the S.S. Queen Fredricka on Wednesday. Upon arrival the group will participate in further orientation sessions preceding their registration for classes early in October.

After her year of study in Beirut, Miss Pyle plans to return to DePaul University where she is a member of Delta Chapter, Delta Zeta sorority.

McKendree College Term Begins Sept. 8
McKendree College opens its fall term on the campus at Lebanon on Friday, Sept. 8, when new students arrive for the first of orientation, according to an announcement by President Edwin E. Voigt.

Registration of junior and senior students is set for Monday, Sept. 11, beginning at 9 a.m. in Voigt Science Hall with sophomore students registration following at 1:30 p.m., and freshman and transfer student registration beginning at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 12.

Classes will begin at the four-year, liberal arts institution on Wednesday, Sept. 13, following a convocation at 8 a.m. at which time President Edwin E. Voigt will address the faculty and students. A record enrollment is anticipated.

Two new residences for men and a new campus dining hall are under construction with completion expected in early spring, 1968. Construction of a new library is also planned to begin early in 1968.

17 Guards Named For Crossings At GC Schools

Thirty-day appointments for 17 school crossing guards and alternates, announced at Monday night's Granite City council meeting by Mayor Partney, were made permanent for the 1967-68 school year by the aldermen upon learning all guards had passed physical examinations.

At last week's meeting, council members objected to the insurance company's requirement for physical exams for the elderly and took no action on the hirings.

Mayor Partney said he felt it was necessary to order the police chief to proceed and require physical examinations to comply with the insurance company's stipulation and to make certain the hazardous school crossings were guarded with the start of school this week.

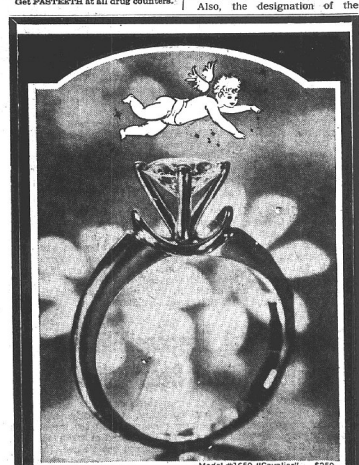

The guards hired under the program are—Samuel Shackelford, George Gallas sr., E. G. Dodd, Fred Meng, Ben Olive, William J. Madden, A. C. Boker, Jesse Burnett, Graham McGovern, Charles E. Johnson, Frank A. Wilson, Emmett Beeler, Clarence A. Ficker, Henry Clemens, Charles Veich, Virginia O'Beir and Betty Orsborn.

Guards are paid at the rate of $9 per day. In other action regarding school crossings, the council voted to authorize changes in the electric traffic light at the St. Elizabeth school crosswalk on Pontoon road to provide round-the-clock protection for youngsters using the soccer fields and playground.

Mayor Partney said the state highway department has given approval for the change and the cost will be $1695 as submitted by R. Dron Electrical Co. Authorization was given for use of parking meter funds to change the school crossing light to a regular electric traffic signal that can be placed in operation with a push button. The transfer of funds from the parking meter account is to be $500 in the event a similar change is needed at the crossing light on Pontoon road at Nameoki grade school.

Sanitary Sewer Plans Completed

Revenue Bond Ordinance Ok'd by Council

Only minor changes were made Monday night in Granite City's revenue sewer bond issue ordinance before it was given approval to pave the way for selling $150,000 in bonds to finance sanitary sewer construction in scattered areas of the city.

City council members also approved an ordinance for a zoning change for an apartment structure in the 2400 block of Madison avenue and referred to the City Planning Commission a request for annexation of a lot in Dream Villa Subdivision Addition 5.

Alderman Bartoski, chairman of the Special Sewer committee, reported that two sets of plans for the sanitary sewer lines in North Granite and other areas have been completed and forwarded to the state Sanitary Water Board in Springfield and to the Federal Housing and Urban Development agency offices in Chicago for approval.

Trip to Chicago
He expressed hope that through a visit to Chicago, the city would get additional funds from the $1,500,000 for major drainage lines allocated for the sanitary sewers.

The meeting at Chicago tentatively is scheduled for Sept. 12, Bartoski said, adding that Bond Atty. Horace Calvo is expected to have all cements for the sewer lines ready by that time.

The chairman suggested an allocation of up to $400 for the trip to Chicago, and his motion was approved with "no" votes by Aldermen Partney and Johnson. Those to make the trip are the mayor and committee chairman, Calvo, Edward Jensen, who is the engineer, Leo Konzen, former assistant city attorney who provided legal advice in attaining the federal grant, and Alderman Green, a member of the committee.

The lengthy revenue bond issue ordinance, which was placed on first reading last week, was approved with only two dissenting votes. They were by Sixth Ward Aldermen Fry and Partney.

Accelerate Bond Redemption
Explaining changes in the ordinance, Atty. Calvo said the redemption of bonds will be accelerated if funds become available for bonds numbered 20 to 150 by 1980 instead of 35 through 150 by 1987. The total bond amount would be $130,000, affording the city a savings in interest. He said the change was recommended by the bond consultant.

Also, the designation of the paying agent may be subject to change at a later date, although it was listed as the American National Bank & Trust Co., Chicago, in the ordinance. Calvo said the bond purchaser will be permitted to designate a paying agent. Several aldermen thought a local bank should be inserted, but no agreement could be reached on which bank.

Mayor Partney reported he is conferring with officials of the three local banks to determine if they might be interested in buying the bonds. The amount of interest specified in the ordinance is 6%, subject to change at the time the bonds are sold on a bid basis.

Fund for Maintenance

The bond ordinance also provides a fund of $24,000 for depreciation, repairs and maintenance. In miscellaneous business, the council heard a report by Alderman Fry, chairman of the Fire and Water committee, that negotiations for a franchise are continuing with East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. and that progress is being made. Fry said another meeting is scheduled for this afternoon.

A low bid of $491 by Bonnie Mfg. Co., St. Louis, for custodial supplies for the city hall was accepted. Other bids were $363 by Janitor Supply Co. and $566 by Novi Brand Co.

Rutledge commented that the city wants the same procedure

Centenarian Mrs. Richardson Dies After Two-week Illness

Funeral services were held yesterday at Niedringhaus Memorial Methodist Church for Mrs. Minnie Richardson, 100 years old, of 1815a Delmar avenue, who died at 2:45 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Interment was at the cemetery in Wanda, Ill., a small community northeast of the Quad-Cities, where she had joined the Methodist Church 84 years ago.

Mrs. Richardson celebrated her 100th birthday on July 8, when members of the family gathered here to observe her century mark. Until becoming ill two weeks ago when she was hospitalized, the centenarian had continued to do her own housework and spent many hours crocheting and embroidery.

She made frequent telephone calls to her family and friends and was always well. She came at her three-room modern apartment above the Press-Record offices. She was a 50-year member of the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Niedringhaus WSCS had presented her with a special commemorative pin in June of this year.

Mrs. Richardson was born at her grandmother's home near Staunton, Ill. Until the age of three years, she and her parents resided on a farm near Mount Olive, after which the family moved to another farm in the Pong area. She was the eldest and only surviving child of the late Augustus and Ellen Sparks.

Her husband, Thomas E. Richardson, whom she married in 1888 at Edwardsville, died in February 1920. The couple resided in the Pong area prior to 1913 when they moved to Granite City. Mr. Richardson was in the hauling business here and later worked at Granite City Steel Co. until his death.

Mrs. Richardson also was preceded in death by three children who died at an early age and a son, Clarence Richardson of Granite City, who died in 1935.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Golda Thornburg, Mrs. Sylvia Richey, Mrs. Marge Roberts and Mrs. C. E. (Ruth) Townsend, wife of the Press-Record publisher, all of Granite City, and Mrs. Edna Newman of Alton; two sons, Courtney Richardson of Alhambra and Samuel Richardson of Milledgeville; 14 grandchildren; 34 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

12 Local Youths to be Drafted on Sept. 8th

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

Army Nurse, Lt. Octavia Davis, Home on Emergency Leave from Vietnam

By VALERIE EVENDEN

A critical shortage of experienced operating room nurses in Vietnam, reported several months ago, resulted in a young Madison woman forsaking the relative peace of a Big Ten college campus medical center and turn her skills to help wounded American servicemen in Vietnam.

First Lt. Octavia Davis, U. S. Army Nurse Corps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Giles, 1035 Calhoun street, Madison, presently is home on 30-day emergency leave from the Third Field Hospital in Saigon.

She was summoned home two weeks ago when her mother's condition worsened while Mrs. Giles was under treatment for a cardiac ailment at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Mrs. Giles, who also is a diabetic patient, suffered a heart attack earlier this month.

Army nurses are subject to the same 12-month tour of duty in Vietnam as other U. S. service men, Lt. Davis explained, adding, "I love my work and I believe my assignment over there is very good."

Wants to Return

She expressed no trepidation about returning to Saigon, or possibly a hospital closer to the combat area, less than two weeks from now.

Lt. Davis' immediate presence at home was judged necessary by the family physician, whom the nurse consulted via telephone from Saigon after learning of her mother's illness.

"I felt very distressed about calling him when I learned that 4 p.m. Saigon time meant it was 3 a.m. in Granite City," she commented. "His wife was very gracious about awakening him and didn't seem too surprised that the phone call originated in Vietnam, rather than from a patient in the Quad-City area."

Arrangements for her recall home were made through Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, executive director of the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter, who received a call from Lt. Davis expressing her appreciation shortly after the nurse arrived here.

"Red Cross—Wonderful"

"The Red Cross does a wonderful job—here at home and especially overseas in Vietnam. It is hard for me to understand how anyone can criticize this marvelous organization, as I heard some people do before I entered the service," the Madison nurse said. "You don't hear that criticism in Vietnam," she added.

Travel details were completed by Lt. Davis by the commanding officer and head Army nurse at the Third Field Hospital, in conjunction with the Red Cross representative there. "Everyone was so kind and helpful to me and within a few hours of being notified of the emergency I was enroute home," the returnee said.

"If one disregards the fact you fly over the international date line between the continental United States and Vietnam—time-wise it was a very fast trip home," the Army nurse commented.

She explained that she departed from Tan Son Nhut Air Base, near Saigon, at 9 a.m. Monday, Aug. 14, and arrived at Travis Air Force Base, San Francisco, Calif., at 10 a.m. also on Monday, Aug. 14. Her return to Vietnam will start at Scott Air Force Base, near Belleville, she believes, although arrangements for her departure have not yet been made by the military authorities.

Became RN in 1954

A vivacious young woman whose enthusiastic approach to her profession and the U. S. Army Nurse Corps intermittently enters the conversation with unmistakable clarity, Lt. Davis was graduated a registered nurse in 1954 at Marion County General Hospital School of Nursing, Indianapolis, Ind.

She continued into post-graduate work at the University of Indiana in Bloomington, where later she was employed at the campus medical center. Prior to entering nursing training, she was graduated from Washington Technical high school, St. Louis, after attending grade school in Madison.

She also spent one year studying at Harris Teachers' College in St. Louis, before deciding to become a nurse. Lt. Davis enlisted in the Army Nurse Corps at Indianapolis on May 23, 1956, and, due to her previous experience and training was sworn in immediately at the rank of first lieutenant.

She spent five weeks at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., primarily devoted to military orientation and procedures, followed with five months at Letterman General Hospital, The Presidio in San Francisco.

Assigned Overseas

Army nurses generally are assigned to Vietnam on a volunteer basis, Lt. Davis said. "However," she explained, "because experienced operating room nurses were in short supply at that time, they (the Army) didn't wait for me to volunteer, but assigned me over there. A fact I don't regret," she added.

"When I first arrived at Saigon in January, the Third Field Hospital was the largest stationary hospital in Vietnam. Until the end of March, we handled most of the serious surgery cases. Our operating rooms were really kept busy."

Expatriated Hospital "It still is the only military hospital in Vietnam with a renal unit, equipment for performing kidney transplants," Lt. Davis explained. "We have a marvelous Irish doctor by the name of Andrew (Andy) Whelton, who specializes in this type of surgery."

"Strange as it may seem, Dr. Whelton was doing post-graduate work in the United States and suddenly found himself drafted in the Army. He didn't offer any protest, so there he is in Vietnam doing a tremendous job for our servicemen," the Madison nurse remarked.

At Third Field, we are among the few Army nurses able to wear white uniforms, Lt. Davis said. Most of the girls in military hospitals elsewhere in Vietnam still wear the Army fatigues.

She explained that the Saigon hospital is located in an air conditioned building—real luxury over there—which formerly housed a school for dependents of American personnel stationed and working in Vietnam.

Numerous U. S. Civilians "Occasionally, we have American civilians as patients. Most of us were very surprised to find so many U. S. civilians working over there. The majority are with the large construction companies that build the roads and military installations," she commented.

"Sometimes, we perform surgery and treat wounded Viet Cong prisoners," Lt. Davis said. "The prisoners are watched constantly by military police, who stay with them from the post-operative period through the recovery rooms and into the wards."

"I understand that many of the prisoners who undergo surgery are quite willing to divulge information when interrogated later by G-2 (Army Intelligence). I guess they are happy we saved their lives," she observed.

Just before I left Vietnam, we were being discouraged from spending time in the downtown Saigon area during the pre-election campaign period. The authorities seem to think it may get pretty rough and I heard that hospital personnel were to be completely restricted from the city center until after Sept. 30."

Meets Neighbor's Son

One of the happiest moments during her seven months in Vietnam was just six weeks ago for Lt. Davis, when she accidentally met another Madison resident, Army Capt. Earl McCaskill, whose mother, Mrs. Rosie Parrish, resides at 1021 Calhoun street, just a few doors from the nurse's home, feats of the helicopter crews," Lt. Davis requested a transfer she reported. "They pick up the wounded and fly them back to ease Unit and since mid-April the hospital sometime within 20 minutes of a soldier being hit, edge in this field. They do an heroic job," she added.

When some of the surgical teams at Saigon were de-centralized to new field hospitals, Lt. Davis said, she was ordered to set up near Da Nang and Pleiku, and this usually increases the number of disease cases," she explained.

Swamps Cause Fever

Most fevers of unknown origin are contracted in the swampy Delta region of Vietnam, she said. "I am learning a great deal and believe this is a very important aspect of caring for our boys over there," Lt. Davis added.

Quad-Cityans will get a chance to see the Madison nurse at her hospital in Saigon in a month or two via a national television network. "We are to be in a segment entitled 'To Serve a Soldier,' a television documentary in the 'Big Picture' series. The episode was filmed the first week of August, she relates. Lt. Davis' father, Fred Giles, shows great pride in his daughter's record. The Madison man retired a year ago this month from Granite City Steel Co., where he worked in the tin house and yard maintenance department for 39½ years.

Mrs. Giles' condition has improved since her daughter's return and she has been released from hospital. "My only thought is that when I have to go back and will take care of herself and continue to get well," Lt. Davis commented.

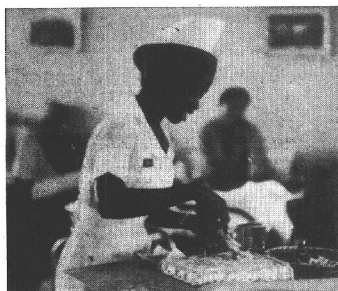

Although greatly worried about her mother's health, the lieutenant also believes her contribution to the military effort is an inescapable duty and she plans to finish her 12-month tour.

Ever get a hankering for the "good old days"? Of course. The trouble is we like to recall only those things that made us happy. And the "good old days" of outdoor plumbing was not one of them. Many of the conveniences of modern living were science fiction in grandfather's day. Hot and cold running water, automatic washing machines, dish washers, sparkling bath rooms. They are yours to enjoy without a second thought thanks to your modern water system.

MICHEL BROS. TOM BOY MARKET as it looked 20 years ago. Left to right are—Alvin Michel, 55, who started working at the store at age 6 and who began managing it in 1954; August Michel, who co-founded the store in 1911 and worked at it until his death this year; and Albert Michel, the other founder, brother of August and father of Alvin, who still at 85 works a 50-plus hour week. The store is now in its last week of operation. The sign top left gives the date the store opened at its present location, 22nd Street and Edison Avenue, having moved from 22nd and State streets.

Michel Bros. Market Closing after 56 Years in Business

By ANDREW WILSON

Closing its doors this week at 22nd Street and Edison Avenue will be Michel Bros. Tom Boy Market, one of the oldest and few remaining neighborhood groceries in the Quad-Cities and a store that dates its founding back 56 years ago.

The last count, taken in 1960 by the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce here, numbered 36 businesses which were back 50 years or more. Michel's Tom Boy Market is a late-comer to this group. Founded in 1911, it is one of the youngest of the old.

There are a few others which make the market, now in its last week of operation, unique. Not only is it one of the oldest groceries in town, but one of its original founders, Albert Michel, at 85 is still putting in a plus-fifty hour week working the store.

Short Walk to Store

The store began as one of many small neighborhood groceries in the horse-and-buggy days. In those days, Mr. Michel said, there was no alternative to the neighborhood grocery, because most people had to walk to get their food supplies.

At Michel's Tom Boy Market, many people did not even have to walk. Albert and his late brother August, who died earlier this year, carried groceries to people's homes. They did virtually everything else for the customer too, from fetching his groceries to chopping meat for his dinner table.

Michel's Market changed with the times, and grew. In 1923 the brothers moved their market from 2201 State street to its present location so they could accommodate a larger volume of business. Albert himself designed the spacious, pleasant-looking building of today's store. In the thirties, with the advent of Piggly-Wiggly supermarkets and other food markets—emphasis on self-service. They improved food lay-outs and stopped deliveries, going over to a total cash-and-carry system.

Changing Times, Prices

Of course they had to change prices also. What housewife with a large family does not yearn for the prices of the good old days? For the record, the Michel's Tom Boy Market of 1911 would sell lard for 5 cents a pound; butter for 25 cents a pound; 21 pounds of sugar for a dollar; pork chops for 8 cents a pound; pork chops for 15 cents a pound; and liver for 10 cents a pound.

From the store-owner's point of view, the big change was that he no longer had to work as hard, according to Mr. Michel. "In the old days we carried everything in bulk, which meant that the customer had a hard time finding what he wanted—and a lot of it was probably behind the counter anyway," he said.

"A customer would come in with a long list of what he wanted, and we'd run our legs off getting it. Say a customer wanted a chicken. We'd go out to our pen in the backyard and pick him out a couple to choose from. If he wanted it all dressed and ready to cook, we'd chop it up for him. He only had to pay for the chicken."

"Doing everything in bulk meant we had to make an effort to keep clean, as well as moving fast," Mr. Michel continued. "I remember if a customer asked for cool oil and then for sugar, by their first names. If you stand around the counter now, you will hear one or another of the customers telling Mr. Michel, his son, Alvin, or his daughter, Dorothy, how much they will miss the store. The Michels reply wistfully they don't want to sell the store but they have to. The reason they must sell is not that business is on the skids. To the contrary, business has been too good to handle. One thing about the store which never changed is that it has always been strictly a family enterprise. The Michels never solicited outside help in managing the store. But now that one brother is dead, the other, Alvin, is ill, and his son, Alvin, is ill, no one remains to carry on the operation.

Alvin's son, the last male in the Michel line, is already established in another business. Mr. Michel plans to take a well-deserved rest, going bowling, fishing and playing cards. He says he is bound to miss the store and such old customers as Mrs. Theodore Kaseberg, who has always been strictly a family enterprise. The Michels never solicited outside help in managing the store. But now that one brother is dead, the other, Alvin, is ill, and his son, Alvin, is ill, no one remains to carry on the operation.

The Michels never solicited outside help in managing the store. But now that one brother is dead, the other, Alvin, is ill, and his son, Alvin, is ill, no one remains to carry on the operation.

Alvin's son, the last male in the Michel line, is already established in another business. Mr. Michel plans to take a well-deserved rest, going bowling, fishing and playing cards. He says he is bound to miss the store and such old customers as Mrs. Theodore Kaseberg, who has always been strictly a family enterprise. Area PTA Group Plans Sept. 21 Smorgasbord

The Granite City Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations' first general meeting of the 1967-68 school year will be combined with a smorgasbord pot-luck supper, starting at 5 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 21, at Frohardt school, it was announced today.

Arrangements for the 19-unit joint meeting were completed Tuesday evening, when the area group's executive board met in the home of Mrs. Pat Polley, council, president, at Mitchell.

Mrs. Kathleen Tadlock was appointed official delegate from the Granite City area to attend a state-wide conference of PTA officials, slated to take place at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale campus, Sept. 14 and 15.

Mrs. Polley said that each local PTA unit is being urged to send a representative to the southern Illinois meeting. Reservations for delegates must be made by tomorrow, she added.

Those interested in attending, or persons requiring transportation to Carbondale, are asked to contact Mrs. Tadlock at TR-7459, the council officer said.

2 Dump Operators Get More Time to Meet Regulations

The Sanitation committee of the Madison county board of supervisors Monday afternoon gave two county area landfill operators 30 days to show an effort toward compliance with the county Landfill ordinance and set a meeting for Sept. 18 to discuss operations of three municipally-owned dumps.

Jack Clifford, county building and zoning administrator, said the committee will meet in the Sept. 18 session with officials of Collinsville, Marine and Highland because their landfills are operated in unincorporated sections of the county.

In Monday's meeting, John Taylor, owner of a landfill north of Troy, was given a 30-day extension to show an effort toward ordinance compliance. J. C. Davidson, who operates a five-acre dump on Route 111 north of Interstate Route 70, also was given an additional 30 days. Clifford told the committee that Taylor's landfill is "in much better shape than most in the county."

A third operator, Harry Woods, operator of a landfill in Foster township, informed the committee the dump is no longer operating.

Carl Buehler of Granite City, chairman of the Sanitation committee, said the county had received several letters of complaint from residents of Lumaghi Heights, east of Collinsville, that there has been burning at the Collinsville landfill in violation of county and state regulations. Clifford said he would investigate and notify Collinsville officials that they are violating regulations.

DOES YOUR HEALTH INSURANCE KNOW WHAT YOUR AUTO INSURANCE IS DOING?

There's a lot of difference between your health insurance and your auto insurance. . . . Neither of them are much like your fire or life insurance. Except they all come out of your family's budget. And they all protect the same family. Shouldn't they all come from the same insurance agent?
